U.K., France, U.S. Schedule Talks in Bermuda

An aerial view of the Mid-Ocean Club, in St. George's parish, eight miles from Hamilton, Bermuda, where Sir Winston Churchill, President Eisenhower, and Premier Laniel of France will hold top-level conference, December 4 to 8. The big three meeting was originally scheduled for June but was postponed first by the drawn-out French political crisis and then by the illness of the British prime minister. Vast Housing Scheme Put Forward by IWA

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant housing scheme to bolster British Columbia's dwindling lumber markets was proposed Friday by union leaders.

The proposal came as the multi-million-dollar industry was faced with strikes and layoff of workers because of over-production.

Following scattered layoffs in recent weeks, 300 men were laid off in the big mills of MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, one of the largest producers of plywood in Canada.

The International Woodwork-ers of America (CIO) will ask the federal government to subsidize a 750,000-unit low-cost housing program to overcome shortage of markets.

The IWA has 37,000 members, 5,000 of whom are on strike in northern and southern interior mills.

Every effort will be made to place in other MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. operations at Port Alberni some 175 employees who have been laid off at the local plywood plant, according to an official of the company.

A proposal which came from a meeting Thursday of the plywoods sub-local of the IWA that the plant continue to operate on a four-day week as has been done for the past few weeks was ruled out by the company.

Arrangements had already been completed to reduce the mill's operations to a full day shift and a partial second shift. Seniority rulings will apply in the layoff.

A company spokesman said the suggestion from the IWA had been seriously considered, but because no definite date could be set for resumption of full production, it was thought senior employees might object to an indefinite four-day week.

The company says it hopes full crews will be called back early in the new year. In Vancouver, meanwhile, several hundred oil workers have applied for a government supervised strike vote.

Two hundred workers of Shell Oil Co. have made application for a strike vote, and 80 employees of the Standard Oil Company took similar action Friday.

A conciliation board has ended hearings in negotiations with British American Oil Company and a conciliation officer has been applied for by Imperial and Home Oils Ltd.

More Emphasis Placed on North

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to launch a new drive to develop Canada's rich and vast northland.

The title of the resources department will be changed. Northwest Territories council members given bigger living allowances while in Ottawa and Eskimos assisted by splitting big reindeer herds for distribution among the northern dwellers.

The resources department, headed by Hon. Jean Lesage, will be known as the department of northern affairs and national resources.

An official said the government wants everyone to know, especially the United States, that the north belongs to Canada and that the government intends to develop it for Canada's benefit.

United States servicemen have been placed on duty at certain northern points, and there have been complaints that some of their actions have fringed on invasion of Canadian sovereign rights.

Private companies, with government permission, will be able to develop hydro power in Crown park areas. Gas and oil pipeline companies also will be allowed to short-cut lines through the parks.

Other legislation will be of minor benefit to Canada's servicemen and veterans. Steps also will be taken to allow power companies to participate in Canada's atomic energy program.

A unofficial estimate put the damage at about $1,000,000.

The debate was started by A. H. Tollingworth, L.York Centre, and Georges Villeneuve, L.Roberval, in moving and seconding, respectively, the address in reply to the throne speech. For each, it was his first speech in the House.

The two new members will be followed at Monday's session by heavy guns of the parties.

Opposition leader Drew will lead off for the Progressive Conservatives and, if he follows the usual practice, will move a motion of non-confidence in the Liberal government.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will follow him with a defense of the administration generally and, more specifically, its new policies as outlined in the throne speech for the session.

After that, CCF leader Coldwell and Social Credit leader Low will enter the debate. Annually, they either move non-confidence motions of their own or give support to one or another Opposition motion.

Refusal Of Talks Denied

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Molotov denies that Russia is opposed to a conference with the West but says Communist China must be invited.

He also said Friday that the possibility of holding such a meeting depends on Western agreement to discuss a wide range of problems relating to international tension, not just the German question.

Molotov took the unusual action of summoning foreign and Russian correspondents to a press conference at which he said Russia regards a foreign ministers' meeting to be "necessary and useful" provided it seeks to reduce international tension.

He said Russia's note of November 3, replying to a Western invitation to discuss German and Austrian problems at Lugano, Switzerland, did not reject the possibility of such a meeting, despite the interpretation placed on it by some quarters in the West.

"President Eisenhower even qualified the Soviet note as 'negative,' alleging that the Soviet note manifested no intention to get together," he said.

Molotov described the situation as "quite the opposite," adding that Russia believes a conference should be held "in order to make a step forward toward strengthening peace and international security."

In New York, Andrei Vishinsky teamed up with his boss in demanding big power conferences with Red China participating.

Vishinsky at the same time accused the United States of thwarting plans for the Korean peace conference and preparing, in general, for another war. Vishinsky was addressing the UN assembly's political committee in the closing phases of a debate on disarmament.

Jurist Declines To Heed Subpoena

WASHINGTON (CP)—Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark followed Harry Truman's example Friday and declined to heed a subpoena calling on him to testify before a congressional committee in the Harry Dexter White case.

The case is expected to remain in eclipse from now till next Tuesday when Attorney General Herbert Brownell is scheduled to appear before the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Brownell said copies of the FBI reports also went to Clark, who was Truman's attorney-general at the time, to the state department where James F. Byrnes was secretary and to half a dozen other key officials.

In the House of Representatives, in-American activities committee, which vainly issued fast subpoenas for Truman, Byrnes and Clark, plans for hearings are in a state of indefinite suspension. The committee was taking a back seat for the time being and the Republican national committee had a hand in putting it there.

High Water Hits Homes, Cuts Roads

Courtenay Suffers; 15 Families Out

At least 15 families were forced to flee their homes Friday as driving rain, coupled with exceptionally high tides, caused widespread flooding along the east coast of the Island.

Low-lying areas of Courtenay, Campbell River and Port Alberni were hit by flash floods as three rivers burst their banks.

Residents in the districts were bracing themselves for further hardships when the weather office Friday evening issued south-east gale warnings for the region.

Hardest hit so far is the township of Courtenay, where the parish hall has been set up as a receiving centre for evacuated families.

Tsolum River gushed over its banks shortly before noon Friday and 12 families who lived nearby were evacuated by RCMP. They are being looked after by friends and their household belongings have been stored in a big warehouse at the Comox Creamery.

A half-mile section of the Island Highway has been cut off and all motorists are forced to take an eight-mile detour.

Swirling waters, four feet deep in some places, cover the highway between the Courtenay Hotel and Sandwick. Basement of the Courtenay Hotel was described as "flooded out" and the Snow Cap Cafe, next door, was isolated late Friday.

The Lewis Park flats were covered, and an RCMP spokesman reported the waters were eight feet deep.

Another high tide is expected this morning. Campbell River overflowed at the northern end Friday but RCMP there said that apart from a few basements being flooded there was no real damage.

Low-lying property along the river bed had been inundated, but residents say conditions are not yet as bad as they were during December, 1951.

Deadlock Broken On Parley Agenda

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Senior allied and Communist diplomats today broke a three-week deadlock with agreement on an agenda for preliminary talks to arrange for a Korean peace conference.

U.S. ambassador Arthur H. Dean said the two sides reached a "meeting of the mind" by agreeing that the time, place and composition of the peace parley may be discussed simultaneously in two subcommittees.

Dean and the top Red representative will meet again Monday to work out details for the committee sessions.

The senior diplomats returned to Panmunjom after a one-week recess and in one hour gave formal approval to the agenda worked out in six secret sessions by staff advisors from each side.

Dean told reporters after the meeting: "This is just the key that opens the door. The real hard work is just commencing." He added: "At least this is progress."

Dean told newspaper men the approved agenda "is substantially what I proposed" in his October 31 meeting with the Communists.

Condition Of L. B. Jones Still Critical

A city man still remains unconscious and in critical condition as a result of injuries received in a car smash which killed two men on Goldstream Hill Tuesday night.

St. Joseph's Hospital authorities reported early Saturday that Lester B. Jones, 59, of 2571 Blackwood was in critical condition with a fractured skull. He has been unconscious since the accident—nearly four days ago.

Depression For Shipping

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Maritime Commission reported to Parliament Friday that Canada's deep-sea shipping industry is in a "serious depression."

The Herald story, under the by-line of reporter Doug Collins, said Dupre, on his own admission, was never in France during the war and never had any connection with "Special Operations Executive," the organization which directed British clandestine activities on the European continent.

The Herald said Dupre admitted that his story of his wartime experiences was false "when it became evident that he knew nothing of intelligence work and that documentary evidence was at hand to show that he had been in Canada when, according to Reader's Digest, he was in France."

The newspaper said it asked Dupre Friday whether he had any statement to make before the Herald story was published and quoted him as saying: "Nothing. Except that I have been advised that my story is not a true story."

The Herald said Dupre was interviewed on technical details of operational intelligence, with which reporter Collins was himself connected during the war. It said it was proved Dupre had no knowledge either of persons or of methods with which he must have been acquainted had he in fact been an agent.

The Herald story said: "Dupre, asked why he had allowed things to get so far, said he really didn't know, but that things had 'grown' since he first started spreading his fiction back in 1946. The original idea, he declared, had been for Mr. Reynolds to write a novel on the basis of his (Dupre's) alleged experiences, but that this had been changed when Mr. Reynolds had heard the full 'facts.'"

New MPs Open Speech Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—Two fresh members of the Commons took over the parliamentary limelight Friday as the Lower House settled down to its traditional debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, a routine of discussion that may go on for a fortnight or so.

The debate was started by A. H. Tollingworth, L.York Centre, and Georges Villeneuve, L.Roberval, in moving and seconding, respectively, the address in reply to the throne speech. For each, it was his first speech in the House.

The two new members will be followed at Monday's session by heavy guns of the parties.

Wartime Spy Heroism All Fiction

'Canadian Who Wouldn't Talk' Talked Too Much

CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Herald said Friday in a news story that the tale of George Dupre—"The Canadian Who Wouldn't Talk"—is a fiction.

Dupre's story is the subject of an article by Quentin Reynolds in the November issue of Reader's Digest. In the article, Dupre, now a Calgary business man, is said to have worked in France for British intelligence during the Second World War and to have suffered extreme Gestapo torture rather than disclose secrets of his espionage and sabotage network.

The Herald said Dupre admitted that his story of his wartime experiences was false "when it became evident that he knew nothing of intelligence work and that documentary evidence was at hand to show that he had been in Canada when, according to Reader's Digest, he was in France."

The newspaper said it asked Dupre Friday whether he had any statement to make before the Herald story was published and quoted him as saying: "Nothing. Except that I have been advised that my story is not a true story."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

AN ageing cock-spaniel named Butch may be British Columbia's champion golf-ball retriever. The dog's master, Alfred Mather, office manager of Hagar Investments, says Butch can find any ball that was ever driven into the rough.

Just to make sure Butch does not find balls before they are lost, as the old saying goes, Mr. Mather never takes him on the fairway. But he runs him through the thickets and tall grass at the fringe of several Victoria courses.

During these forays, Butch has found as many as 50 balls in one day.

Strictly speaking he is a golf-ball pointer rather than a golf-ball retriever. Al broke him of the habit of fetching balls in his mouth, and taught him instead to point where the balls lay.

The dog, an English cocker, came to Al at the age of about five years with few credentials. Chasing balls seemed to be his only hobby.

Now ball-chaser Butch is about 12, his eyesight dim and his hearing muffled, but his nose is still sharp. If a ball is thrown, he may run in the wrong direction at first, but eventually he gets on course and tracks the ball down.

Al Mather is a golfer himself. Butch has given him enough balls to last for years. While Al was playing one hole at a Victoria course, daughter Ann took the dog through the rough and found six balls. Another time he found 16 while his master played nine holes.

On the beach at Qualicum he can find a marked pebble thrown among the million other stones.

If Al ever decides to change his job, he and Butch could form a partnership and enter the used-golf-ball business.

Victoria tattoo artist "Doc" Forbes has tried his hand lately at "rubbing out" old burn scars. It works, too. Doc's assistant, Esther Little, fell on a stove and suffered bad burns on her arm three years ago. They left unsightly white scars.

After some experimenting, Doc managed to tattoo part of the scar to match the color of Esther's skin—freckles and all. When the job is finished, the lady will be able to wear evening dress with no worries.

Recently a Korea-bound sailor came to Doc with terrible scars on his chest from a childhood burn. The tattoo artist covered the sailor's chest with a large eagle.

British residents of troubled British Guiana heaved a great sigh of relief when troops came, says a letter written by a friend in Georgetown to Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harvey of Victoria.

"But I can tell you this: the moment the troops leave, so do we."

There was nerve-racking worry, but no violence, the letter said. "The lives of government officials were made miserable by ridiculous orders given with incredible rudeness. . . . Red hatred was played with a heavy hand."

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey visited British Guiana on a holiday trip some years ago.

Joseph Casey, reeve of Saanich and B.C. Electric line superintendent, lost the presidency of Victoria North Kiwanis Club to William Veitch the other day by one vote. Joe Casey voted against himself. He did the same thing a year or so ago when members of Greater Victoria Water Board elected a chairman. Joe Casey and Mayor Claude Harrison both voted for Claude Harrison—but Joe Casey got in all the same.

John Wardroper, former Victoria and Vancouver newspaperman, was married recently in England. Then he contracted polio while on his honeymoon. He is recovering, and will soon be back to work for the Daily Express on Fleet Street, London.

One insurance company offering a polio protection policy paid out so much money this year that it has raised its rates substantially, a Victoria insurance man says.

Funeral Rites Set Today For Mrs. Mary E. Morley

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Morley, 80-year-old Victoria resident who died this week in St. Joseph's Hospital, will be held today at 2:30 p.m. from Thomson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Morley, born in Victoria, was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Michell, pioneer farmers of South Saanich.

ONCE KIDNAPPED

As a child Mrs. Morley caused quite a stir on one occasion when she was missing for nearly 24 hours. She was found under the shawl of an Indian woman who had kidnapped her and planned to take her to the West Coast.

Mrs. Morley attended school in Saanich and received her later education at Victoria High School.

She was an ardent church worker.

Mrs. Morley, who lived at 845 Princess Avenue, was the wife of the late Perry Morley. Surviving are a daughter, Margaret, at home; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. N. Morley; a brother, George T. Michell, and two grandsons.

Rev. C. B. Smith will officiate at funeral services. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Friday 13th Jinx 'Hits' at Actor

Friday was the third and final Friday the 13th of the year and Victorians apparently escaped unscathed from the pitfalls and hazards usually associated with a day when everything is supposed to go wrong.

In fact, Thor Arngren, who plays the dashing Don Gresham in the Totem Theatre's current production of "The Moon Is Blue," appears to have been the only local resident to experience any unusual bad luck.

MISFORTUNE COMES

He met misfortune at the hand of Jack Droy, who plays the part of an Irish cop.

At the end of the second act, according to the script, Mr. Droy must put Mr. Arngren in the eye.

On the night of Friday the 13th something went wrong. Mr. Droy put too much "zingo" into his swing and he felled Mr. Arngren with a real-life knockout which wasn't called for in the script.

The intermission curtain had to be held an extra few minutes while Mr. Arngren recovered.

Gay, Tuneful 'Bride Ship' Sails to New Success

Several hundred people were on hand Friday night to greet "The Bride Ship" with its cargo of prospective brides and its melody and song.

The operetta, written by Madame W. L. Fahey of Victoria, uses as its theme the arrival here in 1862 of a ship carrying a group of girls from Britain destined to become the wives of established settlers.

BRIGHT COSTUMES

It features bright costumes, original music and songs, a number of good voices, comedy and a fairly believable story.

Except for a few misplaced dialects, most of the cast performs adequately.

Starring as Lady Bannister is talented soprano Mimi Bavin and baritone Stanley Martin.

Also directed by Madame Fahey not only wrote the story, lyrics and music, but directed and conducted the operetta and helped stage it.

Dancers from the Florence Clough Academy appeared in the Indian scene and the Minuet.

Sponsored by the Esquimalt Lions Club, the show will play again tonight at the Esquimalt High School auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Fine, Light Soil Aid in Planting

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

This is the best time to plant fruit trees, roses, and all the hardy leaf-losing trees and shrubs. Wherever planting or transplanting of these subjects is to be done, this work should take precedence on all occasions when the weather is suitable and the soil workable.

On light, sandy soils, showery weather may be an advantage at planting time, but on heavy clay, it is bad, business to mess around with the soil when it is wet from rain or sticky after frost. On such soil, it is best to wait for a spell of fine, open weather because while November may be the ideal month for planting, the job can be done any time between now and next April. However, later the planting is done, the more care must be taken, both during and after the operation.

BEST PLANTING AID

The best aid to planting, whether it is a fruit tree, a rose bush, or an ornamental flowering shrub, is a good supply of fine, light soil, kept dry and under cover until planting time. Mix a little peat moss and bone meal with it and use it to cover the roots before the ordinary soil is shovelled back in. This dry soil mixture will work itself around and under the roots much better than soil fresh from the garden. Don't forget to jiggle the tree up and down a little bit when the hole is half full, so there are no air pockets under the roots.

CAUSE OF LOSSES

One very common cause of losses among trees and bushes through the winter is wind-rocking. If the tree is not staked and tied really securely, the movement of the trunk in the wind creates a tapered hole in the soil around the trunk, where water will lie and rot away the stem at its most vulnerable point.

Main crop carrots and beets are probably already lifted and stored, and this week, the swedes and all fully-grown turnips should be taken up.

Swedes deteriorate in wet land, while turnips often become tough, stringy and hot if left in the ground too long. Packed in damp ashes alongside a well, they retain their freshness all winter, while the swedes will winter nicely in a closely-built pile covered with straw.

PUT TURNIPS IN

If you have a bit of ground available, and a few turnip seeds of any kind left over, they can go in now to provide turnip tops, an excellent substitute for spinach. Another planting which can be made now is garlic. Buy a few bulbs from your grocer, separate them into individual "cloves," and plant these two inches deep in a sunny bed of light, sandy soil.

Speaking of garlic, one of Victoria's most popular hostesses has a Chinese cook who had a wonderful touch with garlic in a green salad. There was always only the faintest suspicion of garlic flavor to the salad, and my friend could never find out how her cook did it. Grating the garlic into the dressing gave much too pronounced a flavor, and rubbing the bowl with a clove didn't give the right effect, either.

Meeting her a month or so ago, I asked if she had discovered her cook's secret. "Yes," she said, rather glumly. "I found out. He ate the garlic himself, and breathed on the lettuce leaves."

Milk Quota System Defended by Kiernan

DUNCAN—Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan told Vancouver Island Dairymen Friday night that if "open competition" on Vancouver Island was the desire of the majority "I feel that such could be arranged."

Addressing the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, the minister defended the milk quota system. He said it was in the best interests of a well-founded economy in the dairy-producing industry on the island.

"To throw the market on Vancouver Island wide open on a straight competitive basis would, I believe, be detrimental to the well-being of the industry," he said.

However, if such is the desire of the dairymen on the island, they have only to express that desire in a manner that would indicate it to be the wish of the majority, and I feel sure that such could be arranged.

"The Milk Board has, however, recommended that the island producer be protected and if you do not think that this is a protected market then you are badly misinformed and that only the bare minimum of milk required to supply the winter deficiency be admitted to the island."

Swedes deteriorate in wet land, while turnips often become tough, stringy and hot if left in the ground too long. Packed in damp ashes alongside a well, they retain their freshness all winter, while the swedes will winter nicely in a closely-built pile covered with straw.

If you have a bit of ground available, and a few turnip seeds of any kind left over, they can go in now to provide turnip tops, an excellent substitute for spinach. Another planting which can be made now is garlic. Buy a few bulbs from your grocer, separate them into individual "cloves," and plant these two inches deep in a sunny bed of light, sandy soil.

Speaking of garlic, one of Victoria's most popular hostesses has a Chinese cook who had a wonderful touch with garlic in a green salad. There was always only the faintest suspicion of garlic flavor to the salad, and my friend could never find out how her cook did it. Grating the garlic into the dressing gave much too pronounced a flavor, and rubbing the bowl with a clove didn't give the right effect, either.

Meeting her a month or so ago, I asked if she had discovered her cook's secret. "Yes," she said, rather glumly. "I found out. He ate the garlic himself, and breathed on the lettuce leaves."

and we are prepared to welcome constructive ideas from any source.

"Since the war the production of dairy produce has shown an increase on the island and Lower Mainland milksheds. The overall increase throughout the province is estimated to be 10 per cent in 1953 over 1952.

"Without a comparable increase in consumption of fluid milk, the amount of milk produced going into secondary produce is steadily becoming proportionately greater."

CONSUMPTION DOWN
The minister maintained that the problems of the primary producer in B.C. is being caused by a heavy over-production of milk. Even in the face of an expanding production, milk consumption is declining.

"Over the past seven years the Milk Board has done much to show the industry generally the advantage of stability in prices," he said.

"In decontrolling above the producer level we have at least restored a segment of competition as to prices, and you can not have a truly competitive market unless you have competition in all three phases of the market—price, quality and service."

"The producer at the present time is not in a position to defend himself . . . and it is desirable to see that the farmer has a reasonable degree of protection."

"By requiring the distributor to pay the farmer a fair price for what he has produced I still have a surplus problem and an aggravated surplus problem in the summer."

"In setting quotas on Vancouver Island this year I am told we are in effect setting a definite limit to the amount of milk that may come to this island and that a limit has been based on what appears to be the best production picture for many years."

The minister gave figures on the amount of milk produced on the island. In 1947 it was necessary to import 23.5 per cent of requirements. In 1948, 23.2 per cent; 1949, 14.3 per cent; 1950, 15.9 per cent; 1951, 24.7 per cent; 1952, 20.9 per cent.

The minister further predicted that it is likely the requirement for 1953 will be only 10 to 11 per cent.

Questioners argued with the minister that if the island was allowed to have the quota position for one year they would be able to produce the full amount of milk required during the winter low production period.

Mr. Kiernan said that if they were protected and allowed to produce to the full of their winter requirement they would from where it will be distributed free to the various provincial health departments who will in turn distribute it among local authorities.

SEEK STOCKPILE
The Canadian government, through the federal health department, has asked the Red Cross to obtain 150,000 extra pints of blood in the next 12 months so that a stockpile of gamma globulin may be amassed.

The system of distribution works like this:
Following each blood clinic, the Red Cross supplies hospitals with the plasma they need.

Any that is left over will be sent to a laboratory in Eastern Canada where the gamma globulin is extracted and bottled. It is then turned over to the national department of health.

Canada's Defense Outlays

INDICATIONS in the Speech from the Throne at Ottawa that Canada's defense outlays, at some $2,000,000,000 annually, must of necessity be continued unless the nation wishes to let down its guard in a troubled world were expected and for the most part will be thoroughly understood. Fifty cents on the budget dollar is a high enough price to pay for the continued failure of the chief world powers to agree on the settlement of their differences, but it is a drop in the bucket compared with what would be the cost to Canada in life and treasure of an uninhibited resort to arms in contravention of the United Nations' charter in a third world-wide conflict.

We believe that the average Canadian has done his thinking on this issue and remains convinced that there is today no practical alternative. The government, however, would be of considerable assistance to the public in this matter if it would be at greater pains to explain where the money goes. For instance, fully armed infantry brigades in northwest Europe and Korea, naval support in the China Sea, considerable military air activity overseas in Europe, and all of the machinery at home to support these external establishments of necessity cost large sums of money. It would assist the average Canadian to understand more closely than he does what these outlays are if he could see them detailed along with the account of the express defensive services rendered.

A corollary to the expenditure of more than $5,000,000 a day on defense needs is that the government must exercise all reasonable care to see that the costs are controlled and that the money brings a practical result in the purpose for which it again is to be voted. On no other basis could the spending of such prodigious sums be justified. But with the need and proper control of these expenditures conceded, there will be very few Canadians who would not agree that this is the only course open to this country at the present state of world affairs.

Premier Bennett's Absence

THE circumstances in which the premier of British Columbia absented himself from the Remembrance Day ceremony in Victoria will not be likely to pass without comment. Mr. Bennett was present in the capital that day, but he chose to delegate to Hon. Einar Gunderson the honor of representing the province at the Cenotaph and in the position of prominence beside the lieutenant-governor on the reviewing stand for the subsequent march past of veterans. Although he is a minister in Premier Bennett's cabinet, Mr. Gunderson is not an elected representative of the people of the province. He is, however, a candidate in the current by-election campaign.

The Canadian Legion's formal invitation to attend and participate in this deeply significant ceremony was accepted originally on the premier's behalf by his office in the Legislative Buildings. Subsequently, Mr. Bennett excused himself with the explanation that he did not expect to be in Victoria on November 11. Presumably there was a change in the premier's plans later, however, for he was in the capital that day. Moreover, he attended the Remembrance Day luncheon of the Royal Canadian Artillery, whose invitation he had definitely accepted several days prior to the event itself.

In these circumstances Mr. Bennett's withdrawal from the ceremony at the Cenotaph has the appearance of an act of disrespect towards the war dead and a slight to the Canadian Legion. The most charitable construction that may be placed on his absence is that the premier failed to appreciate the full meaning and solemnity of Remembrance Day. If, however, he finds his absence construed as an attempt to turn a sacred occasion to the political advantage of the candidate he supports he will have only himself to blame for that.

Trees and People

A TREE, as a poet has well said and as Victorians can truly attest, is a lovely thing. Even when its fallen leaves hide provokingly behind bushes or spread themselves with abandon over nice smooth lawns it is sure in this community of high regard. And when it is a civic tree the woodman's axe is not readily invoked.

Indeed it takes grave processes of debate to dethrone a public tree in Victoria, as the city parks department is duly aware. Not its own considered professional opinion is enough to pronounce the death sentence; this must be reinforced by an outside panel of experts. Even then the procedure is far from automatic, as the current instance of 12 Beacon Hill oaks makes amply evident.

The parks committee, aware no doubt that trees in time wear out their decorative value and impressed with the idea that people too require some protection, has recommended that the trees in question be cut down. They constitute a definite public hazard, it is claimed, an opinion backed by a forest biologist, a plant pathologist, a tree surgeon and a professor of botany. Notwithstanding this array of eminent supporters the mayor has demurred and persuaded the council to let him look into the situation. He knows something about trees and he would like to save them if possible.

An admirable aim this, which tree lovers all over Victoria will probably endorse. The matter has an intriguing connotation, nevertheless. Suppose the mayor examines the trees and thinks they should stay up, whose viewpoint should then prevail? That of the chief magistrate or that of the department charged with the safety of both people and trees, backed as it is with relevant professional advice?

RICHARDSON BUS ROUTE

Sir,—May I, through the medium of your paper, make a comment re the Richardson bus, namely, that all those who use this bus do not benefit from the hourly evening service.

It is only the people who are living east of Richardson Road who will do so. We, who live between Richardson Road and Cook Street, will continue to have no bus after 6 p.m.

I would also like to take this opportunity of thanking the wonderfully kind people who signed the petition I took around, and am very sorry that we did not achieve our objective.

ON EDUCATION

Sir,—Professional progressivists are apparently united in their conviction that Canadian education needs nothing but more money to hire more experts and to build more plants.

This is a quotation from what has been called perhaps the most important book on Canadian education that has yet been written.

The book, "So Little for the Mind," by Dr. Hilda Neatly and published by Clarke Irwin & Co., is now available and deserves a careful reading by all thinking Canadians at this time.

JORDAN RIVER BUS SERVICE

Sir,—In the issue of the Colonist of November 7, there is a caption, "Jordan River residents object to new bus schedule."

I would like to say that when I objected through your newspaper about six months ago, and contacted the bus management about the original change of schedule from the bus leaving Jordan River an hour later, arriving in Victoria at 11 a.m. instead of 10 a.m., as formerly, I was informed at that time that the Jordan River housewives had protested about the too early departure of the Jordan River bus. This new schedule continued till now.

Unless a public utility such as our local bus line is supported by the public it is a very poor financial proposition. The bus frequently goes into town practically empty and returns generally full, except on Wednesdays when it is empty both ways. I have been informed that the bus often goes to Jordan River almost empty. If this is so then the bus company has to fix their bus schedule to fit their financial obligations to their shareholders.

If they get the general support of the bus-riding public out here then they will undoubtedly oblige in anyway they can.

INDIAN AFFAIRS

Sir,—The revelation by the Colonist of conditions on an Indian Reserve may be applied to all five reserves around Victoria, the worst of them being the reserve at Patricia Bay.

These conditions have obtained for many years and are well known to the Indian Agent at Duncan and the Indian Department in Ottawa because they have been so informed.

I am not impressed by the vociferous indignation of church and state for both church authorities and MPs were told years back of the shocking conditions of the Indians at their gates and merely shrugged it off.

The only MP who has consistently fought for the Indians is A. W. Neill of Alberni, now retired.

The school at Brentwood is only a kindergarten at best, and is nine miles from the other three reserves. Are the children expected to walk 18 miles a day?

Money for education is allocated to the Indian Department each year, why then do they delegate this duty to denominational institutions to be run by charity?

The latest action of the Indian Department is the taking of Indian lands at Rocky Point which have been confiscated and handed over to the Department of National Defense without even informing those Indians, much less asking their permission.

Storied Land

By FRANK KELLEY

WHILE one has never seen (in spite of some wandering) and cannot imagine a more suitable place in which to pass the allotted span of life than our own Vancouver Island. It is wholly reasonable to concede there can be other areas where the amenities of living, both physical and spiritual, meet with the whole-hearted approval of their favored inhabitants.

Somerset County in the British Isles must be in that category, a spot where the sense of the spiritual anyway would appear to be some degrees deeper than that which can be sensed where forests primeval promote the feeling one is conscious of in a cloistered cathedral under certain circumstances. So it is not hard to believe there are parts of the world where spiritual contacts will be experienced indefinitely for the benefit of any and all who appreciate the potency of their legends and take them seriously.

Through the courtesy of Eric Marshall, manager of the George Paulin Travel Service, I have been favored with copies from time to time of a publication which one might state is about the best advertising medium employed by those aiming to stimulate travel to all parts of the British Isles. The most recent issue of Coming Events in Britain, a "different" kind of booster booklet put out by the British Travel and Holiday Association, has a lot of "come on" in it. So much so that if this individual were a bit younger he might even now be on the way to spend a little time in an environment where we are told some things pertinent to early Christianity had their origin and still linger impressively, even though that was nearly 2,000 years ago.

This October issue of Coming Events has wide appeal, its splendid illustrated features and generally excellent descriptive matter well repaying one for the moments spent absorbing its well-selected articles, particularly the bit entitled "The Land of the Holy Grail," which informs all who may run and read that "Glastonbury in Somerset has been one of Christendom's most hallowed places for 20 centuries."

There stood the first Christian church ever built above ground. It was constructed of wattle and clay by Joseph of Arimathea, A.D. 50, at a time the Christians of Rome were still worshipping in the Catacombs and about four years after he landed in Britain bearing the Chalice that had been used by Christ at the Last Supper.

The illustrations accompanying the text relating to Glastonbury and the legends associated with the Holy Grail show ruins of the ancient abbey of Glastonbury, completed in 1305; St. Michael's Mount, off the coast of Cornwall; Tintagel Castle, the ruins of which still stand on a rocky promontory overlooking the Atlantic Sea, where Swinburne found abundant inspiration for some verse during the Victorian era. Also at Tintagel and Glastonbury Tennyson lingered to write of the Holy Grail; and it was Chatterton who visited Camelot, seeking material for his last work, a poem about King Arthur and his knights.

The story tells us, too, that Glastonbury was at one time described as being on an island, set in the Sea of Glass and called Avalon; and in Glastonbury today before the ruined high altar of the abbey there is still the open tree trunk grave of a tall and noble warrior, who was found there in 1177 beside the body of a golden-haired lady, believed throughout all the West Country to have been the remains of King Arthur and his lovely Queen Guinevere. What a land of romance it must be.

Cock and Bull Stories

By SETH HALTON

MEXICO'S national sport is a game called jal alai, but her national form of worship in the field of entertainment is la corrida de toros—literally, the running of the bulls.

Bull fighting is magnificent entertainment if you can stand the sight of the blood and gore, but I don't think it can qualify as a sport as we know sport. There is enough grace and rhythm in the movements of the matador to perhaps justify its description as an art form, and an pagan ceremony to qualify it as a pagan rite, but there is too much cruelty and the bull is at too great a disadvantage for it to be called a sport. One American writer has described it as "a spectacle of death performed in the sunshine of the afternoon."

At the big Plaza Mexico where the top professional fights are held, 50,000 people pay between 50 cents and $5 for seats and the best matadors get as high as $5,000 for a single performance.

What we saw, actually, was the minor league, the novilladas, where a poorer quality bull is used and the fighters are struggling for senior recognition. But it was enough.

The bull fights start at 4 o'clock every Sunday afternoon, which gives the gambling men time to see most of the horse races at the Hippodrome or place a few pesos on the jal alai games. Jal alai, incidentally, is somewhat similar to handball but played with webs rather like those on lacrosse sticks. It is a terrific betting game.

Promptly at four there is a parade of all the participants in the fight and then the bull, which has been specially bred for fighting and then kept in darkness all night, comes charging out.

The fight divides itself into three phases.

In the first the matador's assistants make passes at the bull with their red capes while the chief studies the style of his attacks and his reactions. Then come the picadores, men on horseback carrying eight-foot-long barbed spears to test the bull's ferocity. If the bull charges the horse gets the spear in him and the first gore begins to flow. Sometimes both horse and rider are gouged by the bull's horns and on rare occasions one or the other is killed.

In the second phase of the contest the matador himself, with tremendous grace and skill, dodges the charges of the infuriated bull. After several passes he discards his cape and gets banderillas, which are really barbed darts. As the bull charges the matador sidesteps quickly and, if he is good, places the two darts in the bull's shoulder muscles. This happens three times and for the rest of the fight the six darts dangle there.

The third phase is the actual killing. In the first fight we saw one deft thrust of the sword behind the bull's head pierced his heart. He crumpled dead and was soon dragged from the floor of the amphitheatre by three oxen. In the second the matador was less polished—or the bull was tougher—and it took nearly 10 minutes of sword work to finish the animal. If I may use the word once more, the gore flowed freely.

It is a spectacle, and it may be artistic, but it is cruel. Bull fighting is a Latin tradition, taken to Spain from Caesar's Rome, it is believed, and the Mexicans are used to it. As far as I am concerned they can have it.

One night in Mexico some of us went to see cock fights for the first time and as a result I hold firmly to the opinion they should forever remain banned. They are worse, from the standpoint of cruelty, than bull fights. I was unable to decide whether the several hundred people in the improbably named amphitheatre called, in translation, the Boarding House of the Four Streets, had masochistic tendencies or whether they represented a segment of Latin-American nature which places the desire to gamble before everything else.

For the cock fights are only a perverted form of gambling in which no bout starts until the bookies have explained the odds and given all the spectators a chance to wager. Certainly there is no art in it, no skill, and no heart.

Before the fight a razor-sharp, curved knife up to two inches long (depending on the weight of the birds) is strapped to each cock's left leg. Then the birds are placed at opposite sides of the ring and turned loose to hack each other barbarically to pieces. When the flurry of blood-covered feathers settles down the losing bird lies dead on the floor. The winner often survives but rarely is able to fight again.

Then the bets are collected and the dead bird is sold at auction for Sunday dinner.

The Mexicans can also have their cock fights.

(Mr. Halton's notes on Mexico, written after traveling as far as Lima, Peru, on Canadian Pacific Airlines' inaugural flight there, will appear in the next issue.)

Churchill's Restraint

(From The Philadelphia Bulletin)

PRIME Minister Churchill sets an example in restraint to the free world, which could be followed with profit by all public officials who deal with foreign policy.

The prime minister shows restraint because he realizes that unity in the free world, and especially among the English-speaking peoples, is the best guarantee against aggression.

President Eisenhower also knows it; but the same cannot be said of some senators and congressmen who seem to jump at the chance to accuse the British government of Communist appeasement.

Reports From Ottawa

PARLIAMENT opened its post-election session on Thursday with problems of production and trade superseding even those of defense. Politically the national scene is relatively calm.

Liberals, led by the elderly but apparently hale Prime Minister St. Laurent, are starting their fifth consecutive term of office with firm control over both Houses of Parliament.

The government has an overwhelming majority of 78 in the Commons. Combined with strong party discipline, this assures passage of almost any measure the administration cares to propose. In the Senate the eight surviving Conservatives, all relics of the Bennett or earlier Tory regime, are but a weak voice raised against that of the 81 Liberal senators.

Economically the national scene is relatively bright despite a leveling out of defense spending. But there are two black clouds directly overhead which make it a foregone conclusion that this will be largely a wheat and trade session.

Prospects are not favorable for the ready sale at advantageous prices of all or nearly all of the second largest wheat crop on record. Moreover, there's no place to store much unsold wheat except on the farms where it was grown.

That raises what promises to be the $64 question of the session: Should the wheat board, which is just another way of saying the government, advance money to the farmers in partial payment for their farm-stored wheat?

The government has indicated clearly that its answer is negative. But pressure on the government and on its Liberal supporters in Parliament is increasing. The CCF already has gone on record as favoring advances. CCF leader M. J. Coldwell also is calling for what amounts to further government loans to Britain to help the British buy our wheat and other farm surpluses.

Export markets for products other than wheat are spotty. Sales to South America have dropped sharply. Those to the U.S. have stayed up well, but the trade deficit has been increasing because of higher imports from the U.S. Convertibility of sterling and reoccupation of our former strong position in sterling area markets seem as far away as ever.

These factors will strengthen the Conservatives' demands that the government move more initiative in solving the problem of sales to sterling countries. But the Tories are apt to be stopped by these very arguments from arguing effectively against the proposed trade treaty with Japan.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

WHEN we feel a little conscience-stricken about the passenger pigeon, the buffalo and now the ivory-billed woodpecker and the whooping crane, we overlook the fact that our generation is witnessing the annihilation of many creatures besides animals; trees, for one. The native chestnut has been completely exterminated by a disease we brought with us from Europe. In the maritime provinces, the yellow birch has been close to extermination from a mysterious ailment known as "die back." A disease imported from Europe is right now threatening our elms, those "fountains of earth." Spruce and balsam forests in various parts of the nation are being destroyed in a matter of years by overwhelming infestations of the spruce budworm.

Whether these threats to our most beautiful as well as our most valuable assets, the trees, are to be blamed on the spread of civilization, to settlement clearing, the lumber industry, is a question. It stands to reason that the changes man has wrought in the face of the earth are bound to have effects we cannot foresee or calculate. But another theory is gaining ground among biologists. Definite changes in the continental climate are taking place. The earth is growing warmer. In short, the ice age is not yet over. We have popularly supposed that the ice age was four to ten thousand years ago. But the idea now prevails that the ice cap is still retreating. It is certainly retreating in Greenland. We are still in the ice age. And as the cold retreats changes will occur in all nature, apart from anything man is going to contribute to those changes. The cardinals, the Carolina wrens and the numerous other species of formerly southern birds that are common now in various parts of Canada may have been following the ice cap back for 4,000 years, and have now got this far. Who can say when the robin first got back to Canada?

"Maybe we'd better not go back either."

Police Commissioner G. Stanley Eden of Saanich Friday announced plans to seek re-election.

Ralph Meakes of Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association, announced his candidature for Esquimalt council.

A veteran of 15 years police commission service, Mr. Eden seeks a two-year term. He will be opposed by T. M. Nixon, Alderley Road, a newcomer to municipal political fields.

Wilbur John Clayton Ede, 90-year-old resident of Victoria, will be buried today in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mr. Ede, of 1989 Ernest Avenue, died at the residence Wednesday. A native of Oxford County, Ont., he came to Victoria in 1908.

Mr. Ede was well known in Greater Victoria business life and retired from active business participation when he was past 80 years.

He was one of the originators of Gordon Head Fruit Growers' Association, later being manager of Holsim Products, now Sylvan Products at Lake Hill.

He turned to manufacture of jams and jellies at Colwood before his retirement.

Witnesses To Make 'Invitation' Tour

An army of about 500 Jehovah's Witnesses will invade residential sections of Victoria today.

They will call door-to-door to invite people to attend the big Witness rally Sunday at 3 p.m.

At the same time they will distribute Watch Tower and Awake magazines and attempt to convert

And they are fully prepared for "chilly receptions" at a great many homes.

STRATEGY PLANNED

Most of Friday night's assembly at Club Sirocco was taken up with demonstrations of how to handle various situations at the door.

A doorway entrance to a house was set up on the stage and pantomime was used to demonstrate effective door-to-door calling.

Situations involving atheists, agnostics and evolutionists were all ably demonstrated.

Language is no barrier as a testimony explaining their call is printed in 30 different languages.

MANY CHILDREN

More than 750 adults attended Friday's assembly and there were half that number again in children.

There were many babies in arms at the meeting. Speakers ranged from 11-year-old Billy Miliken, who warned of corruption in government and of the threats communism is making on Christendom, to 92-year-old G. Cook.

A feature of the convention Saturday will be an immersion service which will see 15 Witnesses baptized by total immersion.

Following the opening Friday morning, delegates were welcomed to the convention and to Duncan by Mayor J. C. Wragg; Reeve A. E. Beasley for North Cowichan municipality; R. W.

The opening session was a plenary panel referred by W. V. Allester. Panel members included Mrs. Betty MacDonald of Vancouver, first vice-president of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation and chairman of the committee on parent education; Jack Caldwell, a lawyer from Campbell River; John Monk, representing the business world, and Bernard Gilie, principal of the S. J. Willis High School, Victoria.

Each of the panel members brought to the discussion the views and ideas of the particular groups which he or she represented. Mr. Allester, the referee, said that the general aim of the plenary panel was to arouse the delegates and get them stirred up so that when they went into the smaller groups for full discussion they would start right in talking.

"Very little emphasis was placed on the positive," Mr. Allester said, because the panel members had been asked to be critical and to stress the weaknesses rather than the strengths. The teachers went into sessions in 30 small groups scattered throughout the Cowichan High School in as many different rooms or areas. All of the discussion followed the plenary panel theme and the subsections of that theme.

Of particular interest to the children who must have chortled in glee at the reversal of roles with them on holiday and the teacher at school, were discussions on character or characters; lock-step or free discipline; is homework obsolete; discipline, a fact or fiction, the bottom 20 per cent, and the mediocre student.

Mr. Allester reported that from preliminary reports which had reached him from the small discussion groups, the purpose of the plenary panel had been achieved, because the teachers started right at their discussions "hot and heavy."

A surprise speaker at the opening was Miss Hilda Cryderman, first vice-president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, who had been in Victoria on business and was able to attend the convention's first day.

Mr. Allester reported that from preliminary reports which had reached him from the

In the World Of Religion

BY F. GWYNNE LIGHTBOURN

The Rev. Robert S. Bilheimer, executive secretary for the Assembly of the World Council of Churches, to be held next August at Evanston, Illinois, speaking to the 14th and 15th Divisions of the National Council.

Churches in the U.S., stated that at various times in history a new spirit of life has swept over the Christian Church, in the third century a great lay movement began, which led to the formation of the monastic orders; the 16th century gave us the Protestant Reformation; the distinctive feature of the 20th century is the Ecumenical Reformation, which has resulted in several organizations of which the World Council is the most comprehensive.

The Evanston Assembly will deal with aspects of the Christian message to the world, which are especially relevant in our time, and will plan the overall program of the World Council for the next five years.

In a very thoughtful article in The Presbyterian Record, the Rev. C. C. Cochrane of Westmount, Quebec, has discussed the future of the Sunday evening service. Frankly facing the almost complete disappearance of the ordinary evening congregation, he suggests the use by ministers of the evening hour for intensive training of certain key groups in the parish, elders, church school staffs, communicant classes, and young people.

Mr. Cochrane suggests that the value of Sunday worship cannot be measured quantitatively—that for those who have really worshipped in the morning there is "something irreparable" about the experience.

The Sunday School Union of England and Wales has been celebrating its 150th anniversary with an international assembly at Sunbury-on-Thames, to which delegates have come from Europe, the Near East and the United States.

Hugh Redwood, for 35 years a member of the staff of the "News Chronicle" of London, England, and since 1934 its religious editor, has retired from Fleet Street, but is continuing his personal and radio evangelistic work. He has written widely, his best known book being "God In The Slums," published in 1930. Mr. Redwood gave the copyright to the Salvation Army, whose work he has supported for many years.

The Right Rev. Donald Marsh, Anglican Bishop of the Arctic, who has been in Britain recruiting clergy for his Canadian diocese of 2 1/2 million square miles, is an Englishman, but he used some good Canadian slang, when he appealed for "men who can take it," and pointed out that the thermometer often hits 70 degrees below zero.

The first Indian subdivision of the Catholic Women's League has been organized at Sandy Bay in the Keewatin Vicariate in Northern Ont. The president is Mrs. Bear, and the 33 members are all Indians.

A new edition of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, with 24 four-color illustrations and six-color maps, will be off the presses early in 1954. It will be smaller in size than the original edition.

The Rev. Sir Herbert Dunnington, who died in London, England,

Problems Solved By Cleric

Two big problems faced Rev. Graham Tucker, when he arrived on the Pacific Coast from Montreal to become the first Anglican missionary at the vast Kitimat construction project in the Caledonia diocese in northern British Columbia.

How do you become a resident clergyman on a construction site where the company has a rule that visiting clergy must leave within 10 days?

NO ACCOMMODATION

How do you become a resident at all when no living accommodation is available? And he had his new wife with him.

Mr. Tucker solved the first problem by hiring out to the Kitimat Construction Company as an engineer on a part time basis which will enable him to take time off for church work in other parts of the project, such as Kemano.

He solved the second problem by buying a trailer.

From the 2,500 people at Kitimat, Mr. Tucker has worked up a parish list of 60 adults and 25 children.

HELD IN SCHOOL

Sunday evening services are held in a four-room school. Attendance reaches 25.

One week-end when Mr. Tucker paid a visit to Kemano, the evening service at Kitimat was conducted by a church warden and a tape recorder delivered Mr. Tucker's sermon.

A revised edition of a one-volume "Dictionary of the Russian Language" was published in Moscow last year. Its treatment of some "colloquialisms" derived from religious expressions is amusing. "For God's sake" as an insistent request is described as obsolete, but "Glory be to God," meaning "Fine, excellent!" is given as colloquial!

Canada is protected against producers of fake nostrums by legislation that enforces regulations governing proprietary and patent medicines. No one may offer for sale any form of medicine which does not conform to strict standards, nor may any claim be made for cures or exaggerated results.

Children should be taught to brush their teeth immediately after eating as soon as they are able to handle the brush. By starting very young with this excellent habit, it will become an automatic practice on the child's part as he grows older.

Good Supply of Food Obtained for Stall

November is generally a difficult month for Victoria's free food stall but, the first stall today is pretty well supplied. Mrs. Barbara Green said:

A good supply of apples and vegetables are on hand.

A Keating farmer, Ralph Michell, has promised five sacks of apples, potatoes, carrots and turnips for distribution.

Pears are coming from the Dominion Experimental Farm and processed salmon from a private source.

Gyro Club members have volunteered to help with deliveries and pick-ups.

Collection points are available for donations at Black Swan Cafe, Elk Lake; McMoran's Tavern, Esquimalt; and the Prospect Lake Store.

Infant Care Studied

Panel discussions on the care of newborn babies highlighted the 6th meeting Thursday night in the series of weekly refresher lectures for graduate nurses sponsored by the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. for the local civil defense organization.

The first discussion on the care of new babies-in-hospital was directed by Sister Mary Alena of St. Joseph's Hospital and a panel of three staff members including Mrs. Ada MacKenzie, chairman, Mrs. Joyce Rowe, and Mrs. Elsie Saunders.

SECOND PANEL

The second panel, comprised of Miss Elizabeth Ridell and Miss Betty Short, both of the Victorian Order of Nurses, discussed rected discussion to problems involved in home care of newborn infants.

Miss M. Harrington of the St. Joseph's Hospital teaching staff, will deliver a lecture and present a film next week on the subject of respiration, suction, and administration of oxygen.

Next week's meeting will be held Thursday night, instead of on the usual Wednesday evening, in St. Joseph's auditorium.

An empty icebox or any other article with airtight spaces should never be left outside the house or where children can crawl into it. Many youngsters have lost their lives by being suffocated in empty iceboxes.

All-Blacks on Tour; Just as Good as Ever

BY ARCH MACKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—Every 10 years or so British rugby is rudely shaken up by a band of New Zealand huskies called the All Blacks.

The All Blacks are back again, playing 29 games in Britain and two in France before leaving for Canada at the end of February for appearances at Victoria and Vancouver. They also play exhibition games in California before heading home.

The All Blacks started their British visit in typical fashion by crushing a southern counties team 24-0, although observers took some comfort from the fact that the tourists were held almost scoreless in the second half.

Indications are, however, that this fourth All Blacks team will have been honed into a formidable unit after a few games. They have 30 players from which to choose the 15-man forward line.

By tradition, New Zealand is regarded as the hotbed of rugged, grand-daddy-of-Canadian football. Youngsters start tackling and passing at six years of age and fans have been known to hire steamboats so they could cheer their team at away games.

When the All Blacks first invaded Britain in 1905, they were defeated only by Wales. They lost no games in 1924. In 1935, they were beaten by England, Wales and the Swansea, Wales, club. Since Wales is just as rabid about rugby as New Zealand, the losses there were nothing to be ashamed of.

Team captain Bob Stuart, 33-year-old agricultural economist who started playing rugby at 11 and now weighs 202 pounds, is particularly concerned about registering an unbeaten record this tour. He figures that might prove a psychological handicap.

UP TO STANDARD—However, he appears confident that the All Blacks, who precede their games with a brief Maori war dance, will come up to the standard British expects of New Zealand teams—big, fast forwards supported by equally large backs who confront their opposition with rugged and unorthodox use of the ball and players.

Waiver Claim Comes Back To Cop Trophy

OTTAWA (CP)—Bob Cunningham, hard-charging half-back star, was picked up on a waiver by Ottawa Rough Riders this year for $200. Friday he was voted the most valuable player in the Big Four.

The 26-year-old veteran is the 1953 winner of the Jeff Russell Trophy. Bob, who has announced he will hang up his cleats next year to sell sports equipment, heard the news from coach Clem Crowe on a Hamilton-bound train as Riders journeyed for today's crucial game with Tiger-Cats.

The award was announced here by D. Wes. Brown, league secretary, who also reported that Bobby Dawson, Hamilton's newly-acquired halfback from Windsor junior ranks, has won the Gruen Trophy as the most valuable rookie of the year.

For Cunningham, it was a peak in a seven-year career which saw him start with Toronto Balm Beaches and graduate to Montreal Alouettes. With Als, he starred at half in 1949 and caught an important pass which helped Montreal win the Grey Cup that year.

Minor Hockey Sets Schedule

Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association schedule at Memorial Arena for the remainder of November follows:

Table Tennis Tie Ended by Belchers

HOW THEY STAND

CHALLENGE LEAGUE	P	W	L	T	Pts
Belcher's Photos	7	4	2	1	8
Island Tug	7	4	2	1	8
Hanney's	7	4	2	1	8
Strathcona Cafe	7	4	2	1	8

Belcher's Photos forged into the lead in the Victoria Table Tennis Association's Senior Challenge League Wednesday night by edging the winless Strathcona Cafe squad, 26-24, at Club Siroc.

In the second game of the night, Island Tug and Barge and Hanney's failed to break a second-place tie by battling to an 18-18 deadlock to drop one point behind the leaders.

Art Ngai paced the individual scorers with 10 wins while Charlie Ngai and Wayne Chew were next with eight victories apiece.

In the Senior "B" League, Barrett & Sons Transfer retained its unbeaten mark and a one-point lead over B.C. Airlines by edging Gordon's Sporting Goods, 37-35. Airlines had a tussle with the winless Morgan & Tucker team before pulling out a 26-24 decision.

Saanich Sets Three Games

Saanichton Copley Bros. meet Brentwood Senior "C" Men in the feature game of a three-game Saanich and Suburban Basketball League card at Saanichton Agricultural Hall tonight.

Opening game features a bantam boys contest between Saanich and Brentwood with Saanichton juvenile girls playing a Sidney senior "B" girls' squad in the second contest.

Jacobs Stops Miles

Edmonton seahawk Rolfe Miles is shown above being hauled down by Winnipeg quarterback Jack Jacobs after catching a pass in Western Interprovincial Football Union finals against Winnipeg. Buck Rogers (56), Winnipeg guard, and Ron Vaecher (left back-ground) rush over to play while Eskimo-end Frank Anderson (70) looks on. Miles scored two touchdowns to lead Edmonton to a 25-7 victory in the first game at Edmonton but the Blue Bombers forced a deciding game tonight by downing Eskimos 21-17 in the second contest.

Local Girls' Hoop Team Opens Against Kitsilano

Vic-Van Isle Kins, Victoria's only senior women's team, will make their first start of the season tonight at the Oak Bay Junior High gym when they meet a strong Kitsilano team in a preliminary to the feature contest between Victoria Kins and New Westminster Moderns.

Strengthened by three sharp-shooting players up from junior ranks, Wally Yeaman's squad will feature a fast, speedy team which is expected to be improved over last year's squad that bowed out of the B.C. final to Dominion champion Eilers in a hard-fought series.

SIX HOLDOVERS—Pat Mason, Evelyn Donaldson, Shirley Lewis, Helen Pettigrew, Flo Pickering and Cash Kennedy will be the holdovers with Pat Wright and Chris Boyd, two juniors up from the C & C Taxi, and Bev Rose, star of the Esquimalt High School team, expected to be a big help.

Also in the lineup is Phyllis Cockburn, former Victoria High and Normal School star.

Little is known of Kitsilano's strength except that the club dropped a close decision to Eilers in their opening game of the season after holding a two-point lead with two minutes remaining.

The male Kins, who showed surprising strength in dropping their opener to Alberni by one point, will again rely on a youthful lineup. Oldest in the starting lineup will be 21-year-old forward Jerry Parker while 19-year-old Buzz Jacklin will start at centre and 18-year-old Gordy Jones at forward. Guards will be 20-year-old George Woollett and 19-year-old George Denison.

GOOD BENCH STRENGTH

Coach Busher Jackson will have good bench strength in Don Hendry, Don Donahue, Howie Tooby, Ralph Anderson and Bill Bamford.

Norm Baker has been working out with the club but is not expected to see any action tonight while Jackson hopes that starry centre Johnny Clark will join the club shortly.

Feature game gets under way at 8:30 p.m. while the preliminary starts at 7:30 p.m.

Rookie Award In WIFU To Regina End

REGINA (CP)—Gordon Sturtridge, 24-year-old defensive end with Saskatchewan Roughriders, has been named rookie of the year in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Bob Gillies, WIFU secretary-treasurer, made the announcement today. Sturtridge receives the Dr. Beattie-Martin trophy which last year went to Lorne Benson of Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Sturtridge came to Riders last summer from his home in Winnipeg, where he played intermediate football for St. Boniface-Norwood Legion. He also played junior football in Winnipeg.

Italian XI Wins

CAIRO (AP)—Italy's national soccer team came from behind to defeat Egypt 2-1 today in a qualifying match for the world soccer championship.

Vessels To Give It a Try for Eskimos—Injuries May Decide Western Champions

BY JACK KNEFER

EDMONTON (CP)—"Who knows?"

That's the way cautious coach Darrell Royal of Edmonton Eskimos, beset by manpower problems, feels about Saturday dressed. Fullback Normie

Kwong who missed the series opener but was in Wednesday's contest, is still having trouble with a bad ankle, but he'll be carrying leather Saturday.

ball Union championship.

Manpower is the big question

haunting Eskimos' split-specialist on the eve of the best-of-three game series. The first two games crippled some of his top players and cut his reserve to the bone.

His Eskimos, with a promise from the forecaster of good weather and a crisp, hard field, are hoping they can repeat the 25-7 walloping they gave George

Traflet's Bombers in the opening game here last Saturday.

Bombers took the second game at Winnipeg 21-17 Wednesday.

But injuries have weakened

the Eskimo line.

Don Simon, a second-stringer who filled in for all-star halfback Billy Vessels after Vessels fractured a spinal muscle, is definitely out. Royal says Simon is out for the rest of the season with torn knee ligaments suffered in Wednesday's game at Winnipeg.

VESSLS TO PLAY

Vessels himself isn't up to the mark. The Oklahoman is reported 13 pounds underweight and low on power following his convalescence from the back injury. But he'll see action

Saturday.

Frank Anderson, all-star defensive end, also was hurt in Wednesday's game and Royal says "it's doubtful Frank will be used."

Offensive guard Joe Blain chard is reported wobbling on

THE TRUTH ABOUT TAXES

HON. E. M. GUNDERSON, C.A.,
MINISTER OF FINANCE

1. THE LIBERALS PUT ON THE SALES TAX

Social Credit in its first full Session took off the Sales Tax on Meals up to and including $1.00. This is the first step of the Social Credit's policy of reducing this tax.

2. THE LIBERALS PUT ON THE HEAVIEST LICENSE FEES

on private passenger cars in British Columbia than in any other Province in all Canada. Social Credit reduced car license fees by 10% in their first full Session of the Legislature.

3. THE LIBERALS INCREASED THE HOSPITAL INSURANCE PREMIUM.

Social Credit reduced the Hospital Insurance Premium immediately they took office.

YES, your Social Credit Government already reduces taxes on the consumer and these reductions save the people of the Province over $3,000,000.00 per year.

Do not be misled by false propaganda of the political machines.

BY GRANTLAND RICE

As November slips closer to spring baseball practice and baseball fans are waiting again, there are a couple of Dan Parker's — sports editor of the New York Mirror — intelligent questions we would like to pass along.

1. — With big Don Newcombe of the team intact, minus the able Chuck Dressen, how do Messrs. Stohman and Durocher expect to make-up that 35-game gap that developed last September?

The Dodgers, with the possible exception of Dressen's good work, will be stronger in 1954 than they were in 1953. Junior Gilliam will be more experienced and possibly better. Jackie Robinson will be slower but he will still be Robinson.

But Newcombe, the stopper, with Carl Erskine back of him, will be the big factor. And the Dodgers' young pitchers will have more experience behind them.

The question is now can the Giants — or any other National League outfit — close up the gap that yawned wide and ghastly last September? I don't see how any team, including the Braves, can improve that much. Or the Cardinals or Phillies, much less the Giants. The Giants are badly needed in baseball's waning picture so far as attendance is concerned, but they have one wild and woolly job ahead.

2. — Hasn't a very fine sportsman named Harry Guggenheim, owner of the Kentucky derby winner and the winner of the richest horse race ever — the Garden State stakes — gotten somewhat the worst of it, so far as publicity goes, this year?

The late George Herbert Walker, eminent sportsman, thought so.

Dark Star outlasted Native Dancer through the stretch in the Derby, where Native Dancer couldn't make up a neck's difference at the wire. Native Dancer's defeat was charged to a bumping he suffered early in the race. This was certainly not Eric Guerin's or Bill Winfrey's fault. Both are past masters in the art of racing. There was no complaint from Harry Guggenheim at the charges.

In the Preakness, Dark Star, when he broke down, was even farther ahead of Native Dancer than in the Derby. There was one of racing's toughest breaks but there was no alibi from Guggenheim. Native Dancer, in turn, broke down before the Tom Fool Test.

Certainly, Native Dancer is a great horse. Who knows Dark Star wasn't? Guggenheim says nothing. He keeps out of the argument.

"He's gotten much the worst of it," Bert Walker said. Correct.

Still, with the Kentucky Derby and the Garden State feature back of him, Guggenheim doesn't have to talk too much. He wouldn't, anyway. I've fired at coveys of Cuban quail with him, 75 birds to the covey, with not too much luck. Guggenheim also shot, hitting some, failing on others, but I've never heard him offer any alibi or excuse for a miss.

The same goes for his turf and racing experience. Harry Guggenheim is one of our top sportsmen, in my book.

'Marked Man' Takes Rest From Hockey

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Defenseman Walter Fines said Thursday he will stay out of hockey this season because "I'm a marked man."

The 19-year-old Aurora player was acquitted Tuesday of manslaughter and two assault charges in the death last March of Robert Gillies, 17. The Collingwood player died from head injuries after being boarded in a game.

"I've still got two years of junior hockey ahead of me," Fines said. "I can afford to lose this season. I'm just going to lay off, because after this I wouldn't be able to play the same."

Canadiens Get Shake-Up; Bring Up Four Forwards

MONTREAL (BUP) — Coach Dick Irvin Friday announced a major shuffle in the line-up of his world champion Montreal Canadiens as he prepared for Saturday night's National Hockey League game against Chicago.

Although Montreal's 4-2 victory over the Black Hawks Thursday night gave the Habs a four-point lead in league standings, Irvin said "I'm just not satisfied with the team's make-up."

The coach ordered these changes:
1. — Rightwinger Lorne Davis and centerman Paul Masnick were sent to the Quebec league for 14 days "to skate themselves into shape."
2. — Dick Gamble, Eddie Litzenberger and Skippy Burchell were brought up from the Royals on a three-game basis "to put new life in the team."

3. — Penalty-killer Johnny (Goose) McCormack, second-highest point-getter in the American League, was ordered back to the Canadiens from Buffalo.

All four newcomers will see action at the Forum Saturday in the second of three games the Canadiens now are playing against Chicago. They will also make the road-trip to the windy city for Sunday night's game and return here for Thursday's action against Toronto.

Gamble, Litzenberger, Burchell and McCormack will bolster forward lines left limp by injuries to Dickie Moore, Jean Polivau and Paul Meger.

Golf--- Here's How

BY SAM SNEAD

In the pitch and stop shot you want the ball to be high up and drop on the green with very little roll. You make this shot with a seven, eight or nine iron. The feet should be positioned with the heels fairly close together and the left foot angled pretty definitely toward the flag. This stance prevents too much body turn and, of course, forces a short backswing with the minimum action in the arms and very little pivot. You take the club back a short distance along the direction line, then swing it around and up in a three-quarter swing. Your left arm remains straight, just as in the wood shots, but both feet are on the ground throughout the backswing. There is a slight tendency for the left heel to lift, but not much since there is very little hip pivot.

U.S. Pros Vote To Retain Match Play

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Professional Golfers' Association has refused to change its 1954 national tournament from match to medal play and appointed President Eisenhower honorary chairman.

It re-elected Horton Smith of Detroit as president. A resolution proposing to switch the PGA tournament to medal play was voted down, but a spokesman said "the decision did not go past 1954." The PGA is committed, he said, to St. Paul sponsors to conduct the next tournament as the 1953 tournament was played, on a match basis.

Big 'Day' for Canada's Mr. Football Features Eastern Gridiron Program

TORONTO (CP) — Joe Krol, whose star shone brightest in the era before the wholesale importation of American football players into Canada, today bids farewell to the game he helped to build.

Canada's Mr. Football, as he became known over a nine-year stretch with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, will line up with the Double Blues in their season's finale against Montreal Alouettes at Toronto.

Montreal was the first team he played against in Big Four competition in 1945.

A crowd of more than 20,000 is expected at Toronto Varsity Stadium for Joe Krol Day. Krol will make an honorary kickoff and at half time, celebrities of the game will gather at mid-field to present him with an automobile and other gifts.

Much has been written about Krol since 1939 when he started playing senior football with Western Ontario Mustangs.

In 1943 he joined Hamilton Wildcats of the ORFU and led them to a Gray Cup. Hamilton's first since 1932. His 1945-46-47 years with Argos were the greatest when he and teammate Royal Copeland became known as the "touchdown twins."

He injured his knee in pre-season practice this year, got into his first game October 10 and the injury was aggravated in Montreal October 18, and that ended his career.

He announced his retirement October 19, ending a career that started 20 years ago at Kennedy Collegiate in Windsor, Ontario.

The 34-year-old Krol has been on six Canadian title-winning teams. But he won't go out on a winner.

The last-place Argonauts are out of the playoffs this year.

Eastern Muddle

Here's the Big Four situation: Alouettes, Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tigers-Cats are deadlocked for first place with 14 points each. A win for Alouettes would qualify them for a playoff spot and a loss would revert place, preceding the regular

Plans for Bazaar To Be Completed

Completion of plans for the fall bazaar and an address on the school by law will highlight the meeting of the North Ward PTA at 8 p.m. Monday. The bazaar will be held at the school from 2:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Speaker Mrs. K. Maughan Belmont High School librarian will address the group.

The need for more school was stressed by K. Leeming of the Greater Victoria School meeting of the Sir James Douglas PTA.

It was decided that the group's family fair will be held Friday.

The proposed school by law was discussed and the president Mrs. A. McDermid said that a committee had been formed to work on the matter in conjunction with other Oak Bay parent teacher groups.

$500 REALIZED
The fall fair realized approximately $500. Members of the Margaret Jenkins Bank Street PTA were told at a meeting this week.

Kenneth Leeming of the Greater Victoria school board presented the need for school law which will be put to the voters in December.

Many questions concerning students will be discussed by the Belmont PTA at an open house at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 19 at Belmont High School.

Comments will be made by the C. B. Conway department of education.

B.C. Herring Fleet Gets Extra $72,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's herring fleet will receive an extra $72,000 for an unexpected $72,000 windfall.

The fleet, led by 57 big herring boats, missed out of the catch in the area and carry it to berths in Vancouver and New Westminster for the narrow waters between Galiano Island and the East Coast of Vancouver Island in search of 10.

fish the rugged fishermen had not expected they would be allowed to touch this year.

QUOTA INCREASED
Earlier this year federal fisheries inspectors placed a 10,000-ton quota for the lower B.C. coast area but decided to increase the quota by 10,000 tons this week after 10 parts from the fishing grounds indicated unexpectedly large schools of herring still were in the vicinity.

With passing companies coming to pay $500 a ton for herring the quota boost meant another $72,000 for close to 100 men who make up the crews of the smacks and split the profits regardless of the size of catch, of some vessel-shippers and engineers of the smacks.

STRIKE LAST YEAR
There was no catch during the 1952 season due to a strike. However, this year estimates of total catch range up to $10,000,000 half of which will go to the fishermen.

In past years, much herring has gone to make fish meal and fish oil.

Here's Beauty that keeps its promise
DE SOTO — for 1954
Canada's Distinctive Automobile

A SUPERB COMBINATION OF LUXURIOUS COMFORT, BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE AND SAFETY

One glance at an exciting new DeSoto, and you'll imagine yourself behind the wheel — in luxurious comfort — proudly in command of the road!

And that's where you'll be when you drive one... whether you choose a new FireDome V-8 or Powermaster 6.

These new DeSotos are distinctive in every way... in beauty of line and design... in rich, new interior styling... in the instant response of their powerful engines and the smoothness and silence of PowerFlite — the newest and finest in "no-shift" driving. Arrange today to drive the model of your choice — find out for yourself how well the new beauty of DeSoto keeps its promise — in performance even more remarkable. And be sure to test the ease and comfort of DeSoto Full Power Steering... feel the new sense of safety and confidence Power Brakes bring to your driving.*

*Power Steering is available in production at extra cost on all models, Power Brakes on FireDome V-8 models only.

The Newest and Finest Completely Automatic Transmission

Now you can enjoy the driving ease and comfort of completely automatic PowerFlite — standard on all 1954 DeSotos. This combination of a torque converter and a fully automatic shift provides exceptional acceleration and smooth, silent operation throughout the entire speed range. You can move in one effortless motion from starting to highway speeds without lifting your foot from the accelerator — PowerFlite does the shifting at exactly the right time, depending on the acceleration you desire.

Sparkling Colours...
 Luxurious Interiors

DeSoto for 1954 offers you new luxurious interiors... the newest long-wearing nylon and rayon upholstery fabrics, generously trimmed with fine soft leather like material to provide enduring beauty. Brilliant styling of door panels and hardware complete the interior picture. Twelve sparkling exterior colours are available, with 18 two-tone options to please the most discriminating.

Full Power Steering

You can steer so easily, one finger will turn the wheels, even when the car's at a screech! DeSoto's Full Power Steering makes all driving easier, because 100% of the work is done for you by effortless hydraulic power. It resists wheel deflection caused by bumps or ruts... you need no strained grip on the wheel. Parking is effortless, even in tight spots.

Power Brakes You stop smoothly, easily, even from high speeds, with less than half an inch of pedal pressure using DeSoto Power Brakes... because engine vacuum power helps you. (Available on FireDome V-8 models only.)

Your Choice of 2 Great Engines

FireDome V-8 — For 1954 the mighty DeSoto FireDome V-8 has a rating of 170 H.P. with a higher compression ratio of 11 to 1 to take full advantage of today's finer gasolines. This entirely different type of engine, with "dome shaped" combustion chambers, distinctive design and 160 lift lateral valves, is generally considered the best for power and economy.

Powermaster 6 — This smooth, responsive DeSoto Powermaster 6 engine... now combined with PowerFlite... gives you flashing acceleration at all speeds, and the long life and economy of famous Chrysler engineering.

Victoria Firm Marks Anniversary

The store of Morley Co., Ltd., 532 Fisgard Street, looked more like a flower shop than Oriental importers this week when 150 baskets of flowers crowded the store. The occasion was the 20th anniversary of the well-known firm and coincided with remodeling of the store. Flowers came from well-wishers in Victoria, Duncan and Vancouver and each basket bore a wish for luck in Chinese. Lee Kim and Lim Young Chow were founders of the firm.

EATON'S

"Big Top" TOYLAND is open and

Santa's Here!

Bring the Family to Town Today! . . . See Santa Claus in His "Big Top Palace"—He'll Arrive at 9.30 a.m.—Don't Miss the Excitement . . . Come Early! Stay Late!

Flying straight from his headquarters at the North Pole, Santa Claus will reach EATON'S "Big Top" Toyland at 9.30 Saturday! . . . His pack overflowing with wonderful things for boys and girls. Hundreds of toys and games—a choice for every child and every purse. Here are some special features of this year's Toyland Circus:

- Lay-Away Plan. Choose the toy or toys you want, pay a deposit and pick it up before the 20th of December. You may add to the deposit gradually until the toy is paid for . . . or you may pay the balance when you take your purchase away.
- Group Purchases. For the convenience of Service Clubs, Churches and Organizations, EATON'S will make special buying out children's party gifts easy. EATON'S will fill your orders, giftwrap them and deliver them without charge. Phone B7141 and ask for the toy department manager.

- Personal Shopper. If you can't stop in person, just pick up the telephone, dial B7141, and ask for the Personal Shopper . . . give her your list and she'll take over from there, house the gifts according to your wishes, and then send them out to you . . . All at no extra cost!
- See! Our Christmas Windows . . . a parade of Tactel characters, led by EATON'S own "Punkinhead" and followed by clown, dolls, toys and animals.

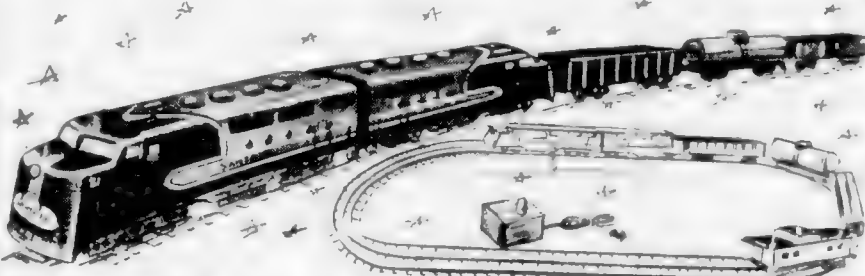

A Pleasing Gift for Your Little Girl!

Walking Dolls

Her name is "Suzy" . . . a life-like walking doll to thrill any little girl on Christmas morning! Stands 14" high . . . has black pigtail, large sleeping blue eyes with long lashes, rosy mouth and rosy plump cheeks . . . and she's just asking to be "mothered" . . . cuddled and loved! And she can walk, her head moving from side to side as she does. Her party dress is of crisp organdy . . . her body and head are plastic.

W.A. Scott To Run for Council; Ald. Christie Seeks Year Term

W. A. SCOTT

ALD. MRS. MARGARET CHRISTIE

W. T. HAMILTON

W. A. Scott, well-known champion of many causes, announced Friday he will seek a seat on city council in the December elections.

At the same time, Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie, who earlier indicated she might retire this year, said she would run for a one-year term for the seat recently vacated by majority candidate Ald. Donald Smith.

Local contractor W. T. Hamilton said he would seek re-election to the Victoria police commission.

SCOTT'S OBJECTIVE
Mr. Scott will go after a "better deal for old-age pensioners," cheap bulk power for Victorians through direct dealings with the B.C. Power Commission and more playing fields for the youth of the city.

"Let's build playing grounds instead of prisons," he said Friday. On the question of aged persons he said that if "we treated aged persons with the same callous indifference as we treat aged people, the SPCA would be down our necks in five minutes."

WAYS TO HELP
Mr. Scott said he could find ways to help old people in the city at no cost to the taxpayers. He said he would support Mayor Claude Harrison in his fight to keep City Hall from becoming "a Tammany Hall."

"There must be no special privileges, for example, under the new Liquor Act," he said. Mr. Scott has been in Victoria eight years. For many years he was in the Orient and was a prisoner-of-war of the Japanese during the Second World War.

He has waged many a fight locally on behalf of what he considers oppressed citizens or, as he says, "doing the work of MLAs and aldermen with people who come to me with their problems."

SON IN RCAF
He has a son in the RCAF, one daughter who is a teacher in Kelowna and another who has recently entered the St. Ann's Order of Sisters as a novice.

Alderman Christie said Friday she had decided to run for the one-year term to "be around for the building of the new Victoria Nursing Home."

She has helped bring the project to its present point where the last obstacle in the way of construction has been removed. She has had nine years' experience on city council and before that was a school trustee seven years.

DEPT. BEING BUILT
A large supply depot is being built at Montreal, he said, but added that he did not know if this would mean the end of the Esquimalt centre.

Students and staff at any one time at the school number 110 at the most, said the spokesman. The student personnel constantly changes—the courses vary from six weeks to six months.

THREE BRANCHES
The only one of its kind in Canada, the school is divided into three branches—cooking, supply and secretarial.

It presently trains the navy's cooks, supply clerks, paywriters, supply officers and other secretarial workers.

Steamer Service To Be Cut
A CPR decision to cut out the southbound call at Port Renfrew by the Princess of Alberni is being protested by Port Renfrew Chamber of Commerce.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been asked to lend its aid, according to G. I. Warren secretary.

PLAN ONE CALL
The CPR plans to make only one call at Port Renfrew on the northbound trip on its weekly service to the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Mrs. Lavender, secretary of the Port Renfrew Chamber of Commerce told Mr. Warren by phone Friday that such a step would add three days on to the outgoing mail deliveries, as well as causing other inconveniences.

Traffic Light On Next Week
The city's new traffic control light at Wharf and Johnson Streets will go into operation at 10 a.m. Monday, traffic engineer Robert Doble announced.

The light is one of several new installations approved by city council earlier in the year.

Today's Events
2:00—Open house, St. John Ambulance Brigade headquarters, 715 1/2 View.
6:30—31st Alberta Battalion Association annual dinner, Strathcona Hotel.
8:00—Langford Community Club, Langford Community Hall.
8:00—Opera, "The Bride Ship," Esquimalt High School.

Dairy's Agent To Serve Term

PORT ALBERNI—Harry The Glovers, who have been Glover, who with his son, Harry Glover, acts as agent for Richmond Dairies, was found guilty of delivering milk in the Oyster district without a B.C. Milk Board license, will go to jail rather than pay the $100 fine imposed by the court, he declared here Friday.

Convicted before Magistrate W. H. Bryant on Thursday, Mr. Glover stated that he will "give himself up" at the local police station Monday morning, prepared to serve a 14-day sentence.

MATTER OF PRINCIPLE
It is a matter of principle, the 46-year-old man declared. He said that he had paid his son's fine and the younger man will take care of the business during the father's term. The case will be appealed in Supreme Court, he stated.

'Suicide Corner' Correction Asked

The Victoria Automobile Club has asked the provincial government to either widen or re-route the road at "Suicide Corner" on the Goldstream-Hill. Managing director of the association, George L. Warren, has forwarded to Premier W. A. C. Bennett a letter outlining the unanimous feeling of the group. Copy of the letter was sent to Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

The letter asks the government to "eliminate the dangerous hazard to automobile drivers on the Trans-Canada Highway between Colwood and Goldstream, where the cut-off to Goldstream connects with the Island Highway and where a terrible accident happened this last week."

Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured at this point of the highway which R.M.P. have named "Suicide Corner."

DANGEROUS SECTION
This section is described in the letter as "one of the most dangerous on the Trans-Canada Highway on Vancouver Island."

"We believe that the government should either widen the road or re-route the road so as to eliminate this hazard," the letter reads.

Civic Voters Total 20,400

AROUND TOWN

The 1953 civic election voters' list will contain about 20,400 names, 250 more than the 1952 list, City Clerk Frank Hunter said Friday.

First proofs of the lists were received at City Hall Friday afternoon. Mr. Hunter expressed surprise that the increase was only 250. He said the list had been growing each year by an average of 600 names since 1946. In 1951, the last time there was a majority contest, 53 per cent, or 10,405 voters turned out to cast their ballots. If the same percentage vote this year, about 10,900 should turn out. Court of revision for the 1953 voters' list will be held in the council chambers at City Hall, Friday, November 21. Officials will not be able to take late registrations, but merely correct errors or omissions on the list.

Dr. B. N. Moyles, UBC professor of mathematics, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, Victoria Centre, Wednesday, November 19, at 8 p.m. Subject of his address will be "Moving Star Clusters: the 'Ura Major Cluster'." Dr. Moyles spent two summers investigating these phenomena with Dr. R. M. Peirle at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

The meeting will take place in the Victoria College-Normal School auditorium.

The annual Victoria Lions' hoodown party will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall, beginning at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, November 28, convener Al Collins said Friday.

The Fred Usher Homeowners orchestra will be in attendance.

The city has been asked by 41 petitioners from the Smith's Hill area to extend Montreal to meet Cook Street, or put through a foot path.

The residents have asked for the extension so that they won't have to take a long round-about way to get to the nearest bus stop. Montreal at present comes to a dead end a short distance from Cook.

Two city motorists have complained that a loose manhole cover on Quadra near North Park caused damage to tires on their cars.

R. S. Coleman, 1853 Crescent, and D. Clarke, 929 Empress, have both written the city claiming damages for ruined tires. Both hit the loose cover around Armistice Day.

A new traffic light will go into operation at the intersection of Wharf and Johnson at 10 a.m., Monday, Police Chief John Blackstock reported Friday.

The children's program committee will be the topic of guest speaker Jack Carey at the Canadian Legion's British Columbia Branch meeting at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday. The gathering will be in the branch auditorium, Blanshard Street.

Liberal, CCF Candidates Accept Sacred Invitation

Liberal and CCF candidates will invade a Social Credit den on the eve of Victoria's forthcoming by-election to debate the government's record.

This was the outcome of an exchange of challenges and counter-challenges among rival candidates Friday.

George Gregory, the Liberal standard-bearer, challenged Finance Minister Einar Gundersen, Social Credit's candidate, to discuss the Sacred Record with him on a neutral platform.

Mr. Gundersen, on his way to a cabinet meeting, was asked if he would accept. He replied that he hadn't yet officially received the challenge and anyway, "the government's record is not an issue in this election."

FINAL RALLY
Ten minutes later Attorney-General Robert Bonner left the cabinet meeting called a press conference to announce that Social Crediters would hold their final rally on Monday, November 23, the evening before the election, to "answer the charges of the headline machines."

At that time we will be answering some of the nonsense that has been generated."

Then he suggested that if the three opposition parties each wanted to send a representative, or if one party wanted to send three representatives, "then we'll turn that rally into a public debate on the issues which have been raised. We will ensure that there is an impartial chairman."

"Now," he added, "if the other parties mean what they say, they'll show up."

Liberal Gregory snatched at the bait. "If Mr. Gundersen gives me his personal assurance that I will be given a fair hearing, I will be pleased to accept," he said.

OTHERS SKEPTICAL
Conservative and CCF candidates, however, were skeptical of the Sacred's offer.

"This is merely a ruse," said Conservative candidate Deane Finlayson. "They know this meeting, on the night before the election, won't be reported by the newspapers."

"It is the policy of B.C. newspapers not to carry reports on campaign meetings on election day."

"The Sacred's are just trying to make people believe they're prepared to debate their record," Mr. Finlayson said. "If they were seriously interested they'd make themselves available."

The first regular Canadian postal service started in 1734 between Quebec, Trois-Rivières and Montreal.

He suggested Mr. Gundersen should meet the other candidates on Friday, November 20, but they're afraid to have it then.

Apart from the Sacred-sponsored debate, Victorians will have one or perhaps two chances to hear all candidates on the same platform.

The candidates have been invited to address Victoria College students at noon Wednesday, and a Junior Chamber of Commerce forum is tentatively set for Wednesday evening.

W.C. Gelling To Run For School Trustee

William C. Gelling, 2090 Kings Road, a newcomer to the civic field, announced Friday he will seek election to the Greater Victoria School Board as one of the two Oak Bay trustees.

He lived in Victoria since 1910. For many years he has been active in PTA work and is a past president of the Oak Bay School PTA. This will be his first try for a public office.

The term of J. A. de Bourcier, one of the present Oak Bay trustees, ends this year. He does not plan to seek re-election. The other trustee is Humphrey Goble whose term runs until December, 1954.

Mr. Gelling said he has no complaint with the school system and is not entering his name "with any preconceived ideas."

CAN BE OF HELP
"I feel I can be of some help but I want to learn first," he said. "I do think our school system is good despite certain criticisms often heard."

Mr. Gelling is a major in the Reserve Artillery here and a member of the United Services Institute.

Kenneth Leeming, presently a trustee, is considered a certainty to run for reelection to the Greater Victoria School Board.

Another likely candidate is Harold B. Whitfield, 1239 Fairfield, a federal civil servant who was defeated in a contest for the same post last year.

LAING CHALLENGED
Premier Bennett challenged Mr. Laing to withdraw and apologize to the premier, or to the people of the province, or else prove his insinuation by giving names and places.

If he fails to do so I am going to call on the people of Victoria not to give the Liberal candidate a single vote," he said. "This type of politics must be repudiated."

Premier Bennett, asserting that there is no difference of opinion among B.C. Socials and Liberals, categorically denying the Liberal leader's suggestion, declared that Liberal leadership had sunk to an all-time low.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and former B.C. premiers T. D. Pattullo and John Hart would never stoop so low, he said.

More than 100 persons crowded into the tiny James Ray Community Hall to hear addresses by the premier, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Finance Minister Einar Gundersen, Social candidate in the November 24 by-election.

COMMITMENTS MET
Premier Bennett declared that his government had lived up to commitments it made before it was first elected to office two years ago by reducing the provincial debt, and passing legislation to secure a greater return for the people from the use of B.C.'s natural resources.

"The government had kept these commitments," he said, while it had been subjected to the most powerful lobbies in history, "but we will never yield—we will always put the interests of the people first."

AT LOWEST LEVEL
Attorney-General Bonner stated that he could not help but be dismayed at the way "the opposition are conducting themselves in this election." He said the Liberals had taken debate to the lowest level since Confederation.

"We elected representatives are trying to get on with the job of putting the province in a position where it can develop and prosper in years to come," he said.

Victoria—Man's Wallet Found in Scotland

An example of long-range honesty was ably demonstrated to Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock Thursday.

The chief received a parcel containing a wallet and a letter, sent from Scotland.

The wallet was being returned to its owner, Edward Gilkin, 2616 Fernwood, by J. and R. Sandgrain Ltd., Glasgow, Scotland, where it had been found in a consignment of Canadian wheat being unloaded from the Ss. Clearton.

Friday, police had not been able to locate Mr. Gilkin, who has moved from the Fernwood address since the wallet was lost.

Institute Board Meets Here

Miss Joan Bowers, bride-elect of this month, was honored when her business associates held a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Stanley G. Marshall, 3938 Wilkinson Road recently. Handy gadgets for her new kitchen were presented in a decorated box during the afternoon. Also present were Mrs. J. Sawers, Mrs. A. Reid, Mrs. K. Brookfield.

New Institutes Formed

Four new Women's Institutes been working since that time to were formed in B.C. during the year, bringing the total to 235. The financial report showed in 15 districts, it was reported $1,663.92 in the Memorial Fund at the two-day meeting of the Provincial Women's Institute Board held in the office of Mrs. Stella Gummow, provincial superintendent, in the Parliament Buildings, Mrs. A. A. Shaw of Vancouver presided.

It was also reported that 31 letters had been received from Dutch and English Institutes thanking the B.C. Institutes for their donations to Flood Relief. A letter from Margaret Taylor, winner of the WI scholarship in Home Economics, was received and also one from the previous winner, Shirley Hawkins.

Letter of thanks also came from the Alexandria and Houston Institutes for donations from the Okean Scott fund. A letter of congratulation was sent to Mrs. Nancy Hodges on her appointment as senator. At the Federated board meeting last summer members passed a resolution urging that at least one woman from each province be appointed to the senate as vacancies arose. Institutes have

Grace McDonald Is Bride Of Mr. George J. Elliot

White chintilly lace over heavy blush satin fashioned the picture gown chosen by Grace Muriel McDonald, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, for her recent wedding to George Joseph Elliot, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Elliot, 1880 Earlington Street.

Rev. Moir A. J. Waters performed the ceremony in First in pink net over taffeta and corated with chrysanthemums in shades to match the attendants' gowns. Mrs. Robert Wood played the organ, and "O Promise Me" was sung during the signing of the register. The scene of the reception, where guests were welcomed by Mrs. F. Indians Criticized but Aid Offered

BY BRIAN O'CONNELL

Sharp criticism of Indian aid by some persons that they would be better off if they "helped themselves," drew an admission Friday from members of the T'sarlip Band that "there were slackers in their ranks."

At the same time the Indians asked: "What white community hasn't?"

The T'sarlip Indian Band came into the spotlight this week by objecting to housing conditions on the reserve.

ASSISTANCE OFFERED

But in spite of the comments of assistance in donations of food and clothing have already been made to Chief Baptiste Paul. While these gifts would be appreciated by the needy families the real aim of the band members is for better housing for all.

"We all help each other in the way of food and clothing and other necessities but none of us can do very much toward getting a decent home without some help in the way of financial backing," Chief Paul said.

These in need are never forgotten. A needy person like Mrs. Madeline Morris, whose husband is in the TB hospital in Nanaimo, and who has to support four children and herself on $11 a month and what she can make knitting sweaters, always receives help from the more fortunate members.

It is the general belief by the whites that land on the reserve is given to the individual by the Department of Indian Affairs.

NO LAND TO CLAIM

In the old days each family could claim and fence as much land as they could clear and farm. But there is no more land left to claim.

Now the land is passed on by the previous owners to their children but in the case of large families divisions are too small. Those wanting more land to support themselves now have to work and save to buy the property from those more fortunate.

This works quite a hardship on the family wanting more property. Most of the men are able to get part-time work up the old homes as seems to be the department policy.

"An old shack always seems to be an old shack even when fixed up," they complain.

A Cub leader Thursday came out in support of General G. R. Pearkes' statement that Indians on the West Saanich Reserve "were an orderly lot."

WELL BEHAVED

The Indian children were particularly well behaved. Mrs. Jean Ford, Akela of the Brentwood Cub Pack, said.

Mrs. Ford has nothing but praise for three Indian boys who have just graduated from her pack.

"If all the white Cubs were as well mannered as my three little Indian Cubs, I would have had a perfect pack," she said.

He suggested Mr. Gunderson should meet the other candidates on Friday, November 20, "but they're afraid to have it then."

Apart from the Socred-sponsored debate, Victorians will have one or perhaps two chances to hear all candidates on the same platform.

The candidates have been invited to address Victoria College students at noon Wednesday, and a Junior Chamber of Commerce forum is tentatively set for Wednesday evening.

Dairy's Agent To Serve Term

PORT ALBERNI—Harry Glover, who has been agent for Richmond Dairies Wallace, acts as agent for Richmond Dairies, was found guilty of delivering milk in the Oyster district without a B.C. Milk Board license, will go to jail for 14 days rather than pay the $100 fine imposed by the court, he declined before Friday.

Convicted before Magistrate W. H. Bryant on Thursday, Mr. Glover stated that he will "give himself up" at the local police station Monday morning, prepared to serve a 14-day sentence.

MATTER OF PRINCIPLE

It is a matter of principle, the 48-year-old man declared. He said that he had paid his son's fine and the younger man will take care of the business during the father's term.

The case will be appealed in Supreme Court, he stated.

Liberal, CCF Candidates Accept Socred Invitation

Liberal and CCF candidates will invade a Social Credit den on the eve of Victoria's forthcoming by-election to debate the government's record.

This was the outcome of an exchange of challenges and counter-challenges among the rival candidates Friday.

George Gregory, the Liberal standard-bearer, challenged Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Social Credit's candidate, to discuss the Socred record with him on a neutral platform.

Mr. Gunderson, on his way to a cabinet meeting, was asked if he would accept. He replied that he hadn't yet officially received the challenge, and anyway, "the government's record is not an issue in this election."

FINAL RALLY

Ten minutes later Attorney-General Robert Bonner left the cabinet meeting and called a press conference to announce that Social Crediters would hold their final rally on Monday, November 23, the evening before the election, to "answer the charges of the old-line machines."

At that time we will be answering some of the nonsense that has been generated."

Then he suggested that if the three opposition parties each wanted to send a representative, or if one party wanted to send three representatives, "then we'll turn that rally into a public debate on the issues which have been raised. We will ensure that there is an impartial chairman."

"Now," he added, "if the other parties mean what they say, they'll show up."

Liberal Gregory snapped at the bait. "If Mr. Gunderson gives me his personal assurance that I will be given a fair hearing, I will be pleased to accept," he said.

OTHERS SKEPTICAL

Conservative and CCF candidates, however, were skeptical of the Socreds' offer.

"This is merely a ruse," said Conservative candidate Deane Elnavson. "They know this meeting on the night before the election, won't be reported by the newspapers."

"It is the policy of B.C. newspapers not to carry reports on campaign meetings on election day."

"The Socreds are just trying to make people believe they're prepared to debate their record," Mr. Elnavson said. "If they were seriously interested, they'd make themselves available before the dying hours of the campaign."

He said he would meet Mr. Gunderson in debate any time when a report of the debate could be carried by the papers. But he would not attend the election-day rally.

CCF candidate Alfred Matthews said, "I will attend, but it's a pure waste of time. . . . Bonner apparently sees that neither paper will give publicity to this meeting. . . . They're just playing for publicity before the election."

W.C. Gelling To Run For School Trustee

William C. Gelling, 2990 Kings Road, a newcomer to the city, announced Friday he will seek election to the Greater Victoria School Board as one of the two Oak Bay trustees.

The term of J. A. de Bourcier, one of the present Oak Bay trustees, ends this year. He does not plan to seek re-election. The other trustee is Humphrey Gold, whose term runs until December, 1954.

Mr. Gelling said he has no complaint with the school system and is not entering his name "with any preconceived ideas."

CAN BE OF HELP

"I feel I can be of some help but I want to learn first," he said. "I do think our school system is good despite certain criticisms often heard."

Mr. Gelling is a major in the Reserve Artillery here and a member of the United Services Institute.

Kenneth Leeming, presently a trustee, is considered a certainty to run for re-election to the Greater Victoria School Board.

Another likely candidate is B. Whitfield, 1239 Fairfield, a federal civil servant who was defeated in a contest for the same post last year.

Chief accountant for the Royal Jubilee Hospital Mr. Gelling has three sons in Greater Victoria schools, one in the West, another in Oak Bay Junior High and a third at Victoria College.

He is 46 years old and has lived in Victoria since 1910. For many years he has been active in P.T.A. work and is a past president of the Oak Bay School P.T.A. This will be his first try for a public office.

Clerks Protest Store Hours Vote

Strongest objection to the B.C. city council's decision to hold a referendum next month on the question of having stores open six days a week has been voiced by the "five-day action committee of the Victoria Retail Clerks' Association."

"Why should the public be asked to vote on the working conditions of the retail clerks?" asked chairman Peter MacEwan. "When the banks and offices go their five-day week the public was not consulted. Nor was it when the civil servants who are actually paid by the taxpayers—went on to the Monday-through-Friday week. So why pick on the retail clerks, who are paid by private employers?"

Mr. MacEwan said he hoped city council would change its mind, just as Vancouver city council had when it found out what was entailed.

He explained that the B.C. government could not guarantee the retail clerks the five-day, forty-hour week they were seeking if stores were allowed to remain open six days.

"When it discovered this, Vancouver council changed its mind about holding a plebiscite."

"If stores went on a six-day week, it is possible that the clerks would lose the privilege of the Wednesday half-day they have enjoyed for 35 years," said Mr. MacEwan. "They could work six days a week, or they could work on the present hours but stagger the weekly half-holiday. We don't want that."

"Some clerks are of the opinion that they should refuse to work on Wednesday mornings until their plea for a five-day week is met," he declared.

Victoria Man's Wallet Found in Scotland

An example of long-range honesty was ably demonstrated to Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock Thursday.

The chief received a parcel containing a wallet and a letter, sent from Scotland.

The wallet was being returned to its owner, Edward Gilkin, 2616 Fernwood, by J. and R. Goodgrass Ltd., Glasgow, Scotland, where it had been found in a consignment of Canadian wheat being unloaded from the St. Clair.

Friday, police had not been able to locate Mr. Gilkin, who has moved from the Fernwood address since the wallet was lost.

W.A. Scott To Run for Council; Ald. Christie Seeks Year Term

W. A. Scott, well-known champion of many causes, announced Friday he will seek a seat on city council in the December elections.

At the same time, Ald. Margaret Christie, who earlier indicated she might retire this year, said she would run for a one-year term for the seat recently vacated by majority candidate Ald. Donald Smith.

Local contractor W. T. Hamilton said he would seek re-election to the Victoria police commission.

SCOTT'S OBJECTIVE

Mr. Scott will go after a "better deal for old-age pensioners," cheap bulk power for Victorians through direct dealings with B.C. Power Commission and more playing fields for the youth of the city.

"Let's build playing grounds instead of prisons," he said Friday.

On the question of aged persons he said that if "we treated aged pets with the same callous indifference as we treat aged people, the SPCA would be down our necks in five minutes."

WAYS TO HELP

Mr. Scott said he could find ways to help old people in the city at no cost to the taxpayers. He said he would support Mayor Claude Harrison in his fight to keep City Hall from becoming "a Tammany Hall."

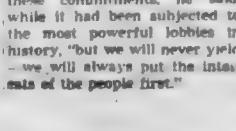

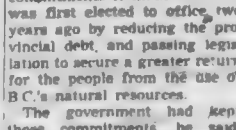

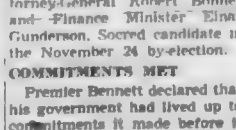

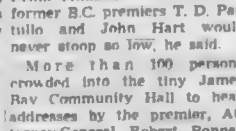

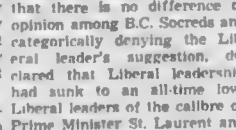

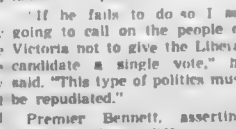

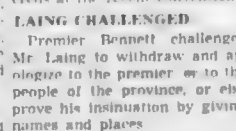

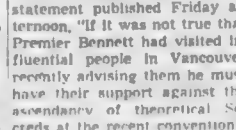

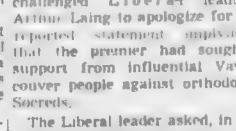

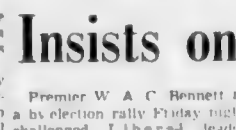

"There must be no special privileges, for example, under the new Liquor Act," he said. Mr. Scott has been in Victoria eight years. For many years he was in the Orient and was a prisoner-of-war of the Japanese during the Second World War.

He has waged many a fight locally on behalf of what he considers oppressed citizens or, as he says, "doing the work of MLAs and aldermen with people who come to me with their problems."

SON IN RCAF

He has a son in the RCAF, one daughter who is a teacher in Kelowna and another who has recently entered the St. Ann's Order of Sisters as a novitiate.

Alderman Christie said Friday she had decided to run for the one-year term to "be around for the building of the new Victoria Nursing Home." She has helped bring the project to its present point where the last obstacle in the way of construction has been removed. She has had nine years' experience on city council and before that was a school trustee seven years.

ence on city council and before that was a school trustee seven years.

MUCH TO BE DONE

Alderman Christie said there was still much to be done before the 104-bed, $400,000 nursing home could be completed. City council approved sale of a strip of land to the home society Thursday but it will be a month before transfer of title is completed.

She is so far unopposed in the one-year term by-election, to be held during the regular December elections.

Mr. Scott said Friday he had intended to seek the one-year term but on hearing of Alderman Christie's plan to run again, he said he did not wish to oppose her. He will run for a regular two-year term.

ONLY SEAT OPEN

Mr. Hamilton has served two years on the police commission. His is the only seat open for contest this year. He said Friday he found the work interesting and felt in the past two years the commission had improved the police department and relations with the police union.

He suggested Mr. Gunderson should meet the other candidates on Friday, November 20, "but they're afraid to have it then."

Apart from the Socred-sponsored debate, Victorians will have one or perhaps two chances to hear all candidates on the same platform.

The candidates have been invited to address Victoria College students at noon Wednesday, and a Junior Chamber of Commerce forum is tentatively set for Wednesday evening.

'Suicide Corner' Correction Asked

The Victoria Automobile Club has asked the provincial government to either widen or re-route the road at "Suicide Corner" on the Goldstream Hill.

Managing director of the association, George L. Warren, has forwarded to Premier W. A. Bennett a letter outlining the unanimous feeling of the group. Copy of the letter was sent to Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

The letter asks the government "to eliminate the dangerous hazard to automobile drivers on the Trans-Canada Highway between Colwood and Goldstream, where the cut-off to Goldstream connects with the Inland Highway and where a terrible accident happened this last week."

Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured at this point of the highway which RCMP have named "Suicide Corner."

DANGEROUS SECTION

This section is described in the letter as "one of the most dangerous on the Trans-Canada Highway on Vancouver Island."

"We believe that the government should either widen the road or re-route the road classified section of today's road as to eliminate this hazard," the letter reads.

Civic Voters Total 20,400

—AROUND TOWN—

The 1953 civic election voters' list will contain about 20,400 names, 250 more than the 1952 list, City Clerk Frank Hunter said Friday.

First proofs of the lists were received at City Hall Friday afternoon. Mr. Hunter expressed surprise that the increase was only 250. He said the list had been growing each year by an average of 600 names since 1946.

In 1951, the last time there was a majority contest, 33 per cent, or 10,405 voters turned out to cast their ballots. If the same percentage vote this year, about 10,800 should turn out.

Court of revision for the 1953 voters' list will be held in the council chambers at City Hall, Friday, November 21. Officials will not be able to take late registrations, but merely correct errors or omissions on the list.

Dr. H. N. Moyle, UBC professor of mathematics, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, Victoria Centre, Wednesday, November 19, at 8 p.m.

Subject of his address will be "Moving Star Clusters: the Ura Major Cluster." Dr. Moyle spent two summers investigating these phenomena with Dr. R. M. Peirle at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

The meeting will take place in the Victoria College-Norman School auditorium.

The annual Victoria Lions' head-on party will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall, beginning at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, November 28, convener Al Collins said Friday.

The Fred Usher Homeowners' Orchestra will be in attendance.

The city has been asked by 44 petitioners from the Smith's Hill area to extend Main Street to meet Cook Street, or put through a foot path.

The residents have asked for the extension so that they won't have to take a long round-about way to get to the nearest bus stop. Most of the present comes to a dead end a short distance from Cook.

Two city motorists have complained that a loose manhole cover on Quadra near North Park caused damage to tires on their cars.

R. S. Coleman, 1833 Crescent, and D. Clarke, 929 Empress, have both written the city claiming damages for ruined tires. Both list the loose cover around Armistice Day.

A new traffic light will go into operation at the intersection of Wharf and Johnson at 10 a.m., Monday, Police Chief John Blackstock reported Friday.

The children's program committee will be the topic of guest speaker Jack Carey at the Canadian Legion's British Branch meeting at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday. The gathering will be in the branch auditorium, Blanshard Street.

Esquimalt May Lose RCN School

Esquimalt may lose one of its naval training schools to an Eastern Canadian city, but not in the near future.

A naval spokesman said here Friday that the transfer of HMC Supply School to the East is now under discussion in high navy circles.

DEPOT BEING BUILT

A large supply depot is being built at Montreal, he said, but added that he did not know if this would mean the end of the Esquimalt centre.

Students and staff at any one time at the school number 300 at the most, said the spokesman. The student personnel constantly changes—the courses vary from six weeks to six months.

THE ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN Canada, the school is divided into three branches—cooking, supply and secretarial.

It presently trains the navy's cooks, supply clerks, paymasters, supply officers and other secretarial workers.

Steamer Service To Be Cut

A CPR decision to cut out the southbound call at Port Renfrew by the Princess of Alberni is being protested by Port Renfrew Chamber of Commerce.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been asked to lend its aid according to G. I. Warren, secretary.

PLAN ONE CALL

The CPR plans to make only one call at Port Renfrew on the northbound trip on its weekly service to the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Mrs. Lavender, secretary of the Port Renfrew Chamber of Commerce told Mr. Warren by phone Friday that such a step would add three days on to the outgoing mail deliveries, as well as causing other inconveniences.

Traffic Light On Next Week

The city's new traffic control light at Wharf and Johnson Streets will go into operation at 10 a.m. Monday, traffic engineer Robert Doole announced.

The light is one of several new installations approved by city council earlier in the year.

The meeting of the Children's Ward Auxiliary to Jubilee Hospital will be held Monday.

Amused by Articles in Japanese Newspaper

BY JOEY WILSON

Japanese newspapers are a very serious breed. I am slowly languishing in the land of the Chrysanthemum for lack of lighter fare. No social page, no columnists, almost no features, no women's news, not even a healthy "Punch" page or a Sunday magazine section, grace the English editions of the papers. No Mortimore, no Tommy Taylor, no Dr. Elizabeth Hurlock, not even That steady diet of international news, larded with an excellent business section and a sports page or two.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

But my frustration is finding a slight release in the letters to the editor and the want ads. You can't keep the human element out of those places, and I am delighted to note that the Japanese letters to the editor are just as eccentric and just as magnificent as their counterparts back home. Not to mention what I am learning about Japanese modes and manners from the want ads. Let's take the letters to the editor. You could guess the subjects of most of them sight unseen. Animals, religion and politics. One Japanese dog owner is incensed at the way dogs are now roaming the streets and he quotes the figure of 104 mad dogs caught in Tokyo this year and 156 victims. He says with truth: "Men and women, young and old, when they come to love their pets simply overlook their petting. It is common sense for dog lovers to leash their dogs and have them inoculated with hydrophobia preventative periodically. The British are known as a dog-loving nation but no stray dogs can be seen roaming around in England. In Japan where troubles concerning road dogs are always existent, the training of dog owners is absolutely necessary."

Mr. Litsandi of Kanagawa Prefecture takes up the fight for a single religious faith for all men. I do not quarrel with his letter which was long, modest and very moving; but he quickly got into pretty deep doctrinal waters which left the laity possibly just a little more clouded than it was before. One item which was a comment in the "To-O-Nippo" rather than an actual letter, was most interesting from the standpoint of taste. I quote the writer in part: "When Japanese homes requisitioned by the Occupation forces were returned to their Japanese owners, usually everything was found painted over, even the alcove post. From their own standpoint, the Americans probably don't think they have made any reckless alterations to the house. But for the Japanese, the paint job means a horrible defacement". This letter makes sense when one realizes that of the beauty of the traditional Japanese architecture lies in its use of rare and precious wood which is never painted over, either in the exterior or interior of a house.

One seventy-year old writes a most moving letter about the plight of the aged, who have lost their homes by bombing and their savings by taxation and inflation, and are now too old for employment. It could be matched easily in Vietnam, but there at least we have some alleviation of the problem by the old age pension.

WANTS WORLD CLUB
But my favorite letter I think is contributed by an old air force veteran, Koichi Sakura. Here is a part of his letter and I wish there was space for it all. "It was glad news that the first Aviation Day in Japan was held this year, eight years after Japan lost her wings. But I felt something was missing. I was missing the same old story of the war. He goes on to plead for a revival of Japan's civil aviation, and then reminds me on his own early flights. "In my case, the first ship which I flew on board was the Maurice Farman two-seater propeller pusher biplane with no fuselage, 70 HP Renault engine which was air cooled by a fan like the auto except an antimer was equipped. I suppose those original old Type airplanes may be seen nowhere today, but not a few pilots who had flown in those machines may be still alive in the world although the numbers are decreasing year after year. I do not know if such a sort of society of early day's pilots like the Caterpillar Club exists now somewhere or not, but if there may be any, I wish it will be open to all veterans in the world and allow them to become a member and, if there is not, it is desirable to make a list of those pilots in the world to contribute new friendship relationship with each other. I am sorry I cannot take the lead now in a rally of those of the same mind. As I am a poor reparative who lost not only wings but also all things, but only suggest, through the English Mainichi the creation of something like such a club. I shall be much obliged if I am supported by the people of the same view in the world, and my hope is answered."

And now for the announcements and want ads. This little pearl I found awhile ago in the Osaka paper. I will always regret I missed the concert "Sgt. James Gay and his Kow Boys from Camp Kobe with Miss Nellie Ritchie as the vocalist, will present a two-hour concert of western and folksongs at the Kobe American Cultural Centre, Saturday, October 5, at 4 p.m. The program includes "Red River Valley", "Casey Jones", "Frankie and Johnny" and others. The singing will be accompanied by Spanish, electric and steel guitars. Sgt. S. L. Harrecording studios query: "Don't you want to send your voice to your family? The only record studio in Japan." And in another place the following is offered:

"Translation of marriage documents for GI's and general foreigners by approved translators. There are also ads for private detectives, "hostess" houses, and venereal disease clinics that would not be accepted as ads back home in the newspapers, but that at least the ordinary run-of-the-mill ones such as 1952 Chrysler for sale, deep freeze and radio for sale, and "Boosie Hawke wooden state-side clarinet."

I have by now an almost perfect picture of Tokyo's housing problems from the ads that appear daily. Almost all open with some sort of statement of "Heating, Western Plumbing" the two most necessary and most often missing items in houses for rent in Tokyo. They couldn't care less about such factors as sea views or accessibility.

Here is one a little more spiritual in approach: "For rent, three furnished rooms with telephone available in Hankyu Nishinomiya near station in lovely noble surrounding. Reasonable rent." And this one in the "wanted to rent" section: "Small Japanese house with garden, near KTC on 5th Street. It offers "Skillful, tailoring with sincerity and speed. Try once." Or the Poppy shop in Yokohama which offers "Customized tailored shirts, ties and others. Buy good ones for good looking." The barber shop in the Hotel Teito gives us a nice bulletin too: "Redecorated, air conditioned. Natural hair cut, polite service."

I'm sorry I just can't fathom this ad from the Onizuka gun-work and Co. Ltd. "Carving, engraving rugged strength. Blueing smooth endurance."

"M-m-m-m-m-m Libby's Deep-Browned Beans!"

only Libby's make Deep-Browned Beans

LIBBY'S Deep-Browned Beans are different, more delicious than any other beans you've ever tasted. One secret of their varying flavor is Libby's patented cooking method. Every bean is cooked individually—deep browned through and through to perfect tenderness. Next, they're buried in an out-of-this-world tomato sauce that flavors each bean right through to the center. No other beans in the world are prepared this way—or taste so down-right good! Try them... and discover for yourself why Libby's Deep-Browned Beans are the fastest-selling beans in town.

the new fully-automatic transmission that surpasses all others

POWERFLITE

In 1954, more than ever before, you'll have cause to say when you find a name to remark

"I see you drive a Chrysler"

Again, you get the good things first from Chrysler.

For Chrysler—and only Chrysler—offers you the world's most advanced engineering features in a car of matchless beauty... luxurious in every detail of its fine coachwork and beautiful appointments.

With Chrysler PowerFlite—the newest and finest fully automatic transmission—you enjoy completely effortless control of motion that frees your hand, your foot, your mind from all gearshifting effort.

Mightier than ever is the new FirePower V-8 hemispherical combustion chamber engine delivering 235 H.P. with ease on standard gasoline. Of course, there's Power Braking standard on all V-8 models, that helps you stop quickly and safely with less than half the usual pedal pressure.

Full-Time Power Steering* available on all models, does four-fifths of the steering work for you all the time—with greater control and safety, effortless parking and steering.

Drive a beautiful new Chrysler, the most talked about car of the decade... and discover the continuous difference that does exist between cars today.

Prince Proud of Growing Up

LONDON (CP) — Immense pride in being "grown up" will be Prince Charles' biggest birthday thrill today. His school days start soon.

"I'm five today," he will proudly inform everyone he meets. And the sturdy, active heir to the British throne already shows schoolboy conduct to three-year-old to school for two years yet. "School" for Charles will be the same room in Buckingham Palace, where the Queen and Princess Margaret once studied. Here the young prince will get one or two hours' instruction daily in reading, writing, drawing and painting. His governess and tutor will be a Scotswoman, Katherine Peedles, who acted in a similar capacity for young Prince Michael, son of the Duchess of Kent.

Birthday gifts will include a spanking red limousine with an electric motor and all the controls and gadgets of a real car, especially built to his father's specifications.

Unlike the pedal-operated model in which the prince breaks speed records in palace corridors, the heavier new model, a top-secret present from his parents, will carry the Royal strictures: "No driving in doors."

clude lead soldiers and a jigsaw puzzle.

Always fond of toy soldiers, Charles now spends absorbing hours building, Coronation processions and his own interpretation of the Trooping the Color ceremony.

Charles starts school the first break in his nursery routine — earlier than most Royal children, but will have proper lessons, not just "kindergarten games," a palace official said. Charles will soon start on elementary — French, conversation, in accord with recent

Royal practice. In Queen Victoria's time the second language was naturally German.

The Queen's coming world tour will provide a basis for real geography lessons. Charles is now more receptive than during the Canadian tour of 1951, and his questions can be answered fully. Both "Nana" Lighthby, his nurse, and Miss and can bring a personal touch to stories of the tour.

"Prince Charles and Princess Anne will miss the Queen and the Duke," said the palace informant, "but not so much as the Queen and the Duke will miss them. After all they are only children and their lives will remain unchanged."

Despite the increase in official duties, the Queen and the Duke have remained real parents to their children. But the tour is now "travelling" and it is expected that the Royal couple, busy with final arrangements, will miss Saturday's birthday celebrations. A second party will be staged on their return from Sandringham.

MC — Y IN TOWN

It is expected Charles and Anne will spend most of their time at Buckingham Palace while their parents are away. "They have a fuller life in town," the palace official explained. There are Thursday dancing classes at the palace and Charles and Anne exchange visits with their various young playmates.

To his friends, the prince is just Charles. So far nobody has bowed to him or made curtsies and it is not likely this will happen for at least five years. He was taught early, however, to bow to the late Queen Mary and King George VI. The present Queen is greeted merely with a "hug, hug and the standard, 'Mummy, can I...?'"

The children will possibly spend week ends at Windsor's Royal lodge with the Queen Mother. Charles will then see his new pony, William.

Bill Boss Covering Moscow

MOSCOW (CP) — Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent in two wars, has been assigned to Moscow.

After three years covering Canadian troops in Korea, he has arrived in the Soviet capital from Tokyo to report the Russian scene for CP's 92 daily newspaper members.

He will be the Canadian news association's first resident staff correspondent in Russia.

Boss, a 36-year-old native of Ottawa, speaks five languages, not counting a smattering of Russian.

He joined CP as a war correspondent in Italy in 1944 after an army career.

He stayed in Northwest Europe after the war, reporting on the Canadian occupation force, repatriation and European recovery.

He returned to Canada in 1946, served in five CP bureaus from New York to Vancouver, and was assigned to London in 1948.

His three-year reporting job on the Canadians in Korea began when he sailed with the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's November, 1950.

Knife at Throat of Wife's Friend Holds Off Police

BERKELEY, Calif. Daily Astrology ——— By RITA DEL MAR

For Saturday, November 14, 1953

Saturday for Everyone: — Be practical, saving, conscientious to mid-afternoon. Steer clear of a tendency to delays, lack of diplomacy. Late afternoon and evening: enjoy some sociability, relaxation.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Employ available information to solve some dilemma. Later afternoon and evening: rest, relax.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) — Analyze any alteration in sentiments; determine whether it is wise and in your welfare. Late afternoon and evening: see friends.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Allot your time to both commercial and family claims; get a nod from all parties before acting.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer) — Secure some tidings or commitments of future value. Look for possible gala doings during late afternoon and evening.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo) — Apply a brake to lavish spending, credit ventures; bring budget into line. Late afternoon and evening: enjoy privacy.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Strive for full reciprocity; don't be put at a disadvantage in joint undertakings, associations. After late afternoon: circulate freely.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra) — Cover territory by getting underway early and staying on the job. Do shopping; gain service after late afternoon.

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio) — Elude antagonism; take no chances until mid-afternoon. Later: see those who favor your goals and aspirations.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Be on guard against complications. Later afternoon and evening: expedite tasks, transactions with parents or home folks.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn) — Be sure your program does not tax your nerves or diplomacy. Make speediest headway around late afternoon and evening.

Widow Changes Story of Murder

RICHMOND, Calif. (UP)—Mrs. Rowena Johnson, 40, confessed to police Friday that she stood by and watched her boy friend "prove his love" by stabbing her husband 82 times with a hunting knife.

The confession was a complete reversal of the woman's original story in which she told investigators she was knocked unconscious by a prowler and awoke to find her husband, Lawrence, dead in bed beside her.

Also held for investigation of the murder was Mrs. Johnson's 42-year-old lover, Harry D. Waller.

The district attorney's office said it had filed formal murder charges against the couple on the basis of the woman's confession.

Police Inspector Darrel Davis said Mrs. Johnson broke down after lengthy questioning and admitted she and Waller had planned to murder her husband for a long time.

She said her husband, who had been living in a separate apartment, was lured to her apartment Tuesday night while Waller hid in the garage.

When Johnson was asleep, Inspector Davis quoted Mrs. Johnson as saying, she stood by and watched while Waller hacked the sleeping man time and again with a long knife.

After the slaying, she quoted Waller as saying, "Now you know I love you."

Davis said the couple's original plan was for Waller to abandon Mrs. Johnson's car and the murder weapon some distance away and then go to his own apartment to await developments.

The plan went awry, the officer said, when Waller was arrested for speeding and police discovered the bloody knife.

When police telephoned Mrs. Johnson about her apparently stolen car, she began screaming hysterically and said she had just discovered her husband's murder.

Davis said the break in the case came when Waller was arrested for speeding and police discovered the bloody knife.

When police telephoned Mrs. Johnson about her apparently stolen car, she began screaming hysterically and said she had just discovered her husband's murder.

Depression For Shipping

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Maritime Commission reported to Parliament Friday that Canada's deep-sea shipping industry is in a "serious depression."

Soviet Rebuff Denied

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Molotov denies that Russia is opposed to a conference with the West but says Communist China must be invited.

He also said Friday that the possibility of holding such a meeting depends on Western agreement to discuss a wide range of problems relating to international tension, not just the German question.

Molotov took the unusual action of summoning foreign and Russian correspondents to a press conference at which he said Russia regards a foreign ministers' meeting to be "necessary and useful" provided it seeks to reduce international tension.

He said Russia's note of November 3, replying to a Western invitation to discuss German and Austrian problems at Lugano, Switzerland, did not reject the possibility of such a meeting, despite the interpretation placed on it by some quarters in the West.

"President Eisenhower even qualified the Soviet note as 'negative,' alleging that the Soviet note manifested no intention to get together," he said.

Molotov described the situation as "quite the opposite," adding that Russia believes a conference should be held "in order to make a step forward toward strengthening peace and international security."

In New York, Andrei Vishinsky teamed up with his boss in demanding big power conferences with Red China participating.

Vishinsky at the same time accused the United States of thwarting plans for the Korean peace conference and preparing, in general, for another war.

Vishinsky was addressing the UN assembly's political committee in the closing phases of a debate on disarmament.

U.S. Jurist Refuses Call

WASHINGTON (CP)—Secretary to U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund in 1946 although FBI reports to the White House had shown White to be a Communist spy.

Brownell said copies of the FBI reports also went to Clark, who was Truman's attorney-general at the time, to the state department where James F. Byrnes was secretary and to half a dozen other key officials.

In the House of Representatives un-American activities committee, which vainly issued fast subpoenas for Truman, Byrnes and Clark, plans for hearings are in a state of definite suspension. The committee was taking a back seat for the time being and the Republican national committee had a hand in putting it there.

Flaming Engine Stages Runaway

HODGE, La. (AP)—A flaming runaway locomotive raced five miles at full throttle and crashed into a moving train near Hodge Thursday, demolishing itself and two other diesel engines.

The locomotive was in the railroad machine shop near Hodge when fire broke out. A railroad man tried to take it out of the inferno of flaming oil.

The locomotive broke loose when its brakes went out and

More Emphasis Placed on North

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to launch a new drive to develop Canada's rich and vast northland.

The title of the resources department will be changed. Northwest Territories council members given bigger living allowances while in Ottawa and Eskimos assisted by splitting big reindeer herds for distribution among the northern dwellers.

FAMILIES FLEE ISLAND FLOODS

Courtenay Hard Hit Rain, Tides Join Rampage; 15 Families Flee Homes

At least 15 families were forced to flee their homes Friday as driving rain, coupled with exceptionally high tides, caused widespread flooding along the east coast of the island.

Low-lying areas of Courtenay, Campbell River and Port Alberni were hit by flash floods as three rivers burst their banks.

Residents in the districts were bracing themselves for further hardships when the weather of Friday evening issued south-east gale warnings for the region.

Hardest hit so far is the township of Courtenay where the parish hall has been set up as a receiving centre for evacuated families.

Tsolum River rushed over its banks shortly before noon Friday and 12 families who lived nearby were evacuated by RCMP. They are being looked after by friends and their household belongings have been stored in a warehouse at the Comox Creamery.

A half-mile section of the Island Highway has been cut off and all motorists are forced to take an eight-mile detour.

Swirling waters, four feet deep in some places, cover the highway between the Courtenay Hotel and Sandwick. Basement of the Courtenay Hotel was described as "flooded out" and the Snow Cap Cafe, next door, was isolated late Friday.

The Lewis Park flats were covered, and an RCMP spokesman reported the waters were eight feet deep.

Another high tide is expected this morning. Campbell River overflowed at the northern end Friday but RCMP there said that apart from a few basements being flooded there was no real damage.

A public works commissioner surveyed Campbell River township Friday and said there was no cause for alarm, although he was far from pleased with the drainage system.

One section of road is closed at Port Alberni and others are under water, although still open for traffic.

Public works officials closed the road near Watties Hill on the route to Sprout and Great Central Lakes as a backwater from the Somass River flooded a small wooden bridge over a creek. Traffic is being re-routed by way of McCoy Lake.

Low-lying property along the river bed has been inundated, but residents say conditions are not yet as bad as they were during December, 1951.

Mossadegh Quiet for Moment

Seated next to a guard, former Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, right, glances piercingly at the court during his trial in Tehran. Mossadegh is charged with defying the shah, seeking to overthrow the monarchy and illegally dissolving parliament. He has kept the court in an uproar since the beginning of his trial. An aerial view of the Mid-Ocean Club, in St. George's parish, eight miles from Hamilton, Bermuda, where Sir Winston Churchill, President Eisenhower, and Premier Laniel of France will hold top-level conference, December 4 to 8. The big three meeting was originally scheduled for June but was postponed first by the drawn-out French political crisis and then by the illness of the British prime minister. (Central Press Canadian.)

Vast Federal Housing Plan Urged To Bolster Industry

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant housing scheme to bolster British Columbia's dwindling lumber markets was proposed Friday by union leaders.

The proposal came as the multi-million-dollar industry was faced with strikes and layoffs of workers because of over-production.

Following scattered layoffs in recent weeks, 500 men were laid off in the big mills of MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, one of the largest producers of plywood in Canada.

The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) will ask the federal government to subsidize a 750,000-unit low-cost housing program to overcome shortage of markets.

The IWA has 37,000 members, 5,000 of whom are on strike in northern and southern Interior mills.

Every effort will be made to place in other MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. operations at Port Alberni some 175 employees who have been laid off at the local plywood plant, according to an official of the company.

A proposal which came from a meeting Thursday of the plywood sub-local of the IWA that the plant continue to operate on a four-day week as has been done for the past few weeks was ruled out by the company.

Arrangements had already been completed to reduce the mill's operations to a full day shift and a partial second shift. Seniority rulings will apply in the layoff.

A company spokesman said the suggestion from the IWA had been seriously considered, but because no definite date could be set for resumption of full production, it was thought senior employees might object to an indefinite four-day week. The company says it hopes full crews will be called back early in the new year.

In Vancouver, meanwhile, several hundred oil workers have applied for a government-supervised strike vote.

Two hundred workers of Shell Oil Co. have made application for a strike vote, and 80 employees of the Standard Oil Company took similar action Friday.

A conciliation board has ended hearings in negotiations with British American Oil Company and a conciliation officer has been applied for by Imperial and Home Oils Ltd.

Eisenhowers Welcomed

OTTAWA (CP)—Ike and Mamie came to town Friday for what might be called an old-home week end.

Though not a lot of protocol was forgotten in greeting President and Mrs. Eisenhower, the reception was more on the lines of a comfortable, easy-going welcome for an old friend who hadn't been around these parts for some time.

Both the president and his wife were pleasant, smiling and relaxed. The thousands who jammed Confederation Square in the heart of the capital were more in the mood for wishing a neighbor well than politely chaffing a foreign dignitary.

Time and again they called: "Hi Ike," "Hi Mamie."

It was mostly a quiet day for Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower. After the arrival ceremony, there was nothing on the agenda except a spot of tree-planting in the grounds of Rideau Hall, official residence of the governor-general.

In the evening Governor-General Vincent Massey gave a state dinner in honor of the president. About 100 guests attended and were joined by another 200 for the reception afterward.

Wearing a dark coat, striped pants, white silk scarf and homburg, the U.S. president was greeted by Mr. Massey, Prime Minister St. Laurent, cabinet ministers and the chiefs of the armed forces.

Truman Checks Before Speaking

NEW YORK (UP)—Former President Truman indicated Friday he will speak out on the Harry Dexter White controversy after he checks his records on the case in Kansas City, Missouri.

Newsman who accompanied Mr. Truman on his customary early-morning stroll asked him if his refusal to answer a Congressional subpoena to testify on the White case meant he would remain silent about the affair.

"It does not necessarily mean I will not speak out at some time," Mr. Truman said. "I have not had a chance to look up the facts in the case, since my records are in Kansas City, Mo."

He also was asked whether he would accept an "invitation" to testify before the Senate in ternal subcommittee as suggested by one of the subcommittee's members, Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-N.J.).

"I really don't know," Mr. Truman said. "I'll have to cross that bridge when I get to it."

He said he would not comment on a report that he kept White in office in order to give the FBI more time to check on White's activities.
